Chapter 1 - Wittelsberg

The Schmidt family story begins in the Village of Wittelsberg in the Kingdom of Prussia.

Wittelsberg is located in the municipality of Ebsdorfergrund, a community consisting of eleven villages in the southeast of the District (Landkreis) of Marburg-Biedenkopf in the Administrative District (Regierungsbezirk) of Gießen in the state of Hessen. The village has around 1,000 inhabitants.

It has been known by different addresses in the past. Some of these addresses include:

- Wittelsberg, Marburg, Hesse-Nassau, Prussia, Germany (prior to 1918)
- Wittelsberg, Marburg, Hesse-Nassau, Germany (1918 to 1945)
- Wittelsberg, Marburg, Hessen, Germany (1945 to 1962)
- 3551 Wittelsberg, Krs. Marburg a/L, Hessen, Germany (1962 to 1993)
- 35085 Ebsdorfergrund-Wittelsberg, Hessen, Germany (after 1993)

Chapter 2 - The History of Wittelsberg

Wittelsberg was first mentioned in a document around 1130 under the name "Widdelesberc" or "Widdelesbere". However, a settlement in the area took place much earlier. Excavations which took place as part of a highway bypass construction project in the direction of Rauschholzhausen uncovered several Neolithic longhouses around the present village.

Until its present name of Wittelsberg in 1577, the name went through many variations. They included Wydelberg (1243), Wihttelesber (around 1248), Wittilsberg (1267), Withelesberg (1267) and Witelisberg (1316). From the 13th to 18th centuries, Wittelsberg was the seat of an independent court that included the villages of Beltershausen, Bortshausen, Moischt, Lambertshausen and Hahnerheide. The Court consisted of a Mayor and six Aldermen, who were appointed by the Mayor. The Mayor and two Aldermen came from Wittelsberg. In the last years of its existence, the court met in the old town hall of Wittelsberg, which was demolished in 1870 and replaced by a new one.

Hessischen Löwen and Mainzer Rad

Two village boundary stones were laid in 1756. They show the Hessischen Löwen (Hessian Lion) on one side and the Mainzer Rad (Mainz Wheel) on the other. Wittelsberg designation was that of a border village in this time.

Wittelsberg is situated from the southern edge of the Amöneburg basin to the Vorderen Vogelsberg nature area, on the edge of the of the Zwester Ohm tributary of the Lahn. The tributary is fed by the Wittelsberg Bach (stream), which flows through the village from the east and which then flows off to the southwest.

Landgrave Ludwig I of Hesse had the Wittelsberger Warte (“the Schanze”) built on the Kirchberg as an outpost of Frauenberg Castle in 1431. The Kirchberg is a 258 meters (845 feet) high basalt dome hill which consists of a broad rounded dome-shaped volcano formed almost exclusively of basaltic lava.

The Wittelsberger Warte is a round tower with a rampart and moat right next to the parish church, which has been preserved as a ruin. The fortress tower has a high entrance with slit-shaped, vertical loopholes for the use of crossbows. It served both to secure the border against the Mainz Amöneburg and to monitor the trade route "by the Langen Hessen" in the Ebsdorfergrund. The Warte towers is only 300 meters northwest of the village center.

Today, the Wittelsberger Warte is the coat of arms of the municipality of Ebsdorfergrund and is probably one of the oldest buildings in the municipality.

Ebsdorfergrund Coat of Arms

How Wittelsberg has developed over the centuries is shown by the number of houses and the number of inhabitants. In 1577, only 34 households (houses) were counted. It took almost 260 years, until 1832, for the number of houses to almost double to 62. There were 97 houses in 1915. By 1940, the number of houses doubled again in only about 100 years to 132 houses. The growth of residential buildings was accelerating. In 1970, there were 210 houses, and in 1986 there were 243. Today there are about 320 houses.

Present Day Wittelsberg

The number of inhabitants has also increased in roughly the same proportion. From an estimated 204 inhabitants in 1577, the number rose to 482 by 1838. The largest increase was recorded after the Second World War. From 1939 with 567 inhabitants, the population increased to 825 in 1948 due to the influx of evacuees and displaced persons. After 1955, the population fell to 700, due to emigration out of the area after the end of World War II. Since that time, the population has steadily increased and as of 2014, Wittelsberg had 1,015 inhabitants.

Old Town Hall (Am Marktplatz 2)

Until 1660, the children were taught in the old town hall. In 1661, the first school house was built in Wittelsberg. Two hundred years later, the school had become too small and in 1861, a new schoolhouse was built with a teacher's apartment.

After this building also had become too small, another new school, which is still in use today, was moved into in 1939. The previous school buildings are still used as residential buildings (Eduard-Bork-Str. 3 and 6).

Evangelical Parish Church \(1844\) and Land Warden \(1431\)

A footpath to the Protestant parish church, which was built in 1844 on the Kirchberg, leads through a nearly 300 year old avenue. It is directly next to the medieval land watchman. Before the current building, there was already a church in the present cemetery about 40 meters west. In connection with the medieval watch tower, it offers the image of a knight's castle rising from the plain to the north and east. Built in the classicism style, it is in the immediate southern neighborhood of the waiting room; to the west of the waiting room and church is the cemetery.

Between the waiting room, church and cemetery, stands two memorials which commemorate the village dead from World War I and World War II.

The following events were of great importance for the development of Wittelsberg.

- Originally the place belonged to the Vogtei Ebsdorf, before whose jurisdiction decided disputes in about 1480 for properties in Wittelsberg.
- In 1526 Hesse converted from the Roman Catholic faith to the Lutheran faith.
- Since 1867 the place belonged to the jurisdiction of the district court of Marburg.
- On 13 September 1919, electric lights burned for the first time in Wittelsberg.
- In 1972, the most drastic measures for Wittelsberg in its history took place. Wittelsberg gave up its independence and joined with Dreihausen, Heskem, Wermertshausen and Roßberg to create the municipality of Ebsdorfergrund.

Wittelsberg is a closed village with irregular and random floor plans. Half-timbered houses, including various farms, dominate the old village center. There is a modern housing estate in the south of the village.

Chapter 3 - The Kingdom of Prussia

Before being absorbed into Germany, “Prussia” (German: Preußen) was a major military and economic power in Central Europe during the 18th and 19th centuries. At its peak, Prussia included half of modern Poland and all but southern Germany. Though itself one of Germany’s many states, Prussia at one point included: West Prussia, East Prussia, Brandenburg (including Berlin), Saxony, Pomerania, the Rhineland, Westphalia, non-Austrian Silesia, Lusatia, Schleswig-Holstein, Hanover and Hesse-Nassau (where Wittelsberg is located).

Prussia grew in size and influence throughout the 18th and 19th centuries by jockeying with other European powers (particularly Austria). Notably, Prussia conquered Austrian held Silesia and triggered the decisive Seven Years’ War by invading Bohemia.

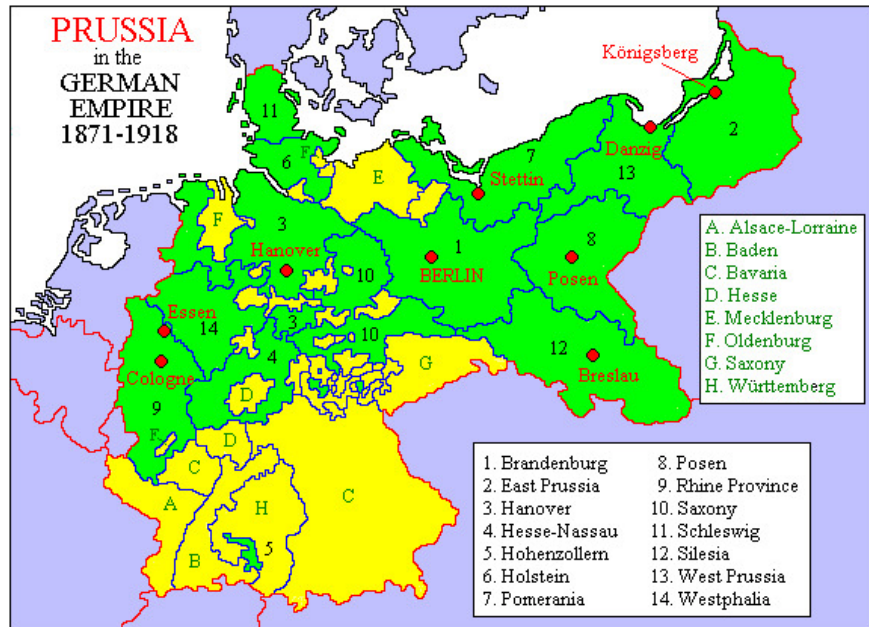

In addition, many historians recognize Prussia as the predecessor to a unified German state. Otto Von Bismarck, Prussia’s prime minister, was instrumental in Germany’s creation. Seeing an opportunity to expand Prussian influence (and dreaming of a unified German empire), Bismarck seized territory through wars with Denmark and Austria. He also declared a new alliance among Prussia and the German states, called the North German Confederation (1867–1871).

Prussia in the German Empire – 1807 to 1871

(image by Adam Carr)

Hesse-Nassau was created as a consequence of the Austro-Prussian War of 1866 by combining the previously independent Hesse-Kassel (or Hesse-Cassel), the Duchy of Nassau, the Free City of Frankfurt, areas gained from the Kingdom of Bavaria and areas gained from the Grand Duchy of Hesse (including part of the former Landgraviate of Hesse-Homburg from Hesse-Darmstadt). These regions were combined to form the province Hesse-Nassau in 1868 with its capital in Kassel and redivided into two administrative regions: Kassel and Wiesbaden.

Prussia in the German Empire - 1871 to 1918

(image by Adam Carr)

After goading France into war (and quickly winning), Bismarck negotiated a unified German Empire in 1871. Prussia remained the dominant power in the German Empire until its dissolution in 1918 after World War I.

In 1935, the Nazi government abolished (de facto) all states, so the provinces held little meaning. In 1944, Hesse-Nassau was split into the provinces of Kurhessen (capital in Kassel) and Nassau (capital in Wiesbaden). In 1945, after the end of World War II, these two provinces were merged and combined with the neighboring Hesse-Darmstadt to form the northern and western part of the newly founded state of Hesse. Parts of Nassau were also moved into the Rhineland-Palatinate.

Two devastating World Wars in the first half of the 20th century left the country occupied by the victorious Allied powers.

With the advent of the Cold War, two German states were formed in May 1949: the western Federal Republic of Germany (FRG) and the eastern German Democratic Republic (GDR).

The democratic FRG embedded itself in Western economic and security organizations, the EEC and NATO, while the communist GDR was on the front line of the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact. The decline of the USSR and the fall of Communism enabled Germany's unification in October 1990.

This list gives an overview of the territories in which Wittelsberg was located or the administrative units to which it was subordinate:

- before 1567: Holy Roman Empire, Landgraviate of Hesse, Frauenberg court (Frauenberg court consisted of the following locations: Wittelsberg as the court, Beltershausen, Bortshausen and Moischt)
- from 1567: Holy Roman Empire, Landgraviate Hesse-Marburg, Marburg Office, Frauenberg Court
- from 1648: Holy Roman Empire, Landgraviate Hesse-Kassel, Kirchhain office, Frauenberg court
- from 1815: German Confederation, Electorate of Hesse, Kirchhain office, Frauenberg court
- from 1866: North German Confederation, Kingdom of Prussia, Province of Hesse-Nassau, District of Kassel, District of Marburg
- from 1871: German Empire, Kingdom of Prussia, Province of Hesse-Nassau, District of Kassel, District of Marburg
- from 1918: German Empire, Free State of Prussia, Province of Hesse-Nassau, Administrative Region of Kassel, District of Marburg
- from 1949: Federal Republic of Germany, State of Hessen, Kassel district, Marburg district
- from 1981: Federal Republic of Germany, State of Hessen, Gießen district, Marburg-Biedenkopf district

Chapter 4 – The Neighborhoods of St. Louis

St. Louis has 79 different neighborhoods, each with its own distinctive style and characteristics. Family roots were established in two of these neighborhoods – Old North St. Louis and Hyde Park. The family remained in the Hyde Park Neighborhood until the mid 1950's.

The Historical St. Louis Neighborhoods

Old North St. Louis

Old North St. Louis general boundaries are defined as Palm Street on the North, southward along Interstate Highway 70 (I-70) to the East, westward on Cass Avenue to the South, northward on North 13th Street to Mullanphy Street to North Florissant Avenue to the West to Palm Street.

Henry and Elizabeth resided at 1447 Clinton Street in the Old North St. Louis Neighborhood after they were wed. They lived there from 13 November 1898 until they moved to the Hyde Park Neighborhood on 8 June 1908. Harry, Annetta and Otto were born at this residence.

Old North St. Louis Neighborhood

In 1816, U.S. Army officer William Christy purchased a tract of land bounded by present-day Monroe, Hadley and Montgomery Streets and the Mississippi River. Soon thereafter, Christy and his associates, William Chambers and Thomas Wright, incorporated the area as the village of North St. Louis. A unique feature of the village layout was the provision for three circles of land for public use: Clinton Place for education, Jackson Place for recreation and Marion Place for worship.

Crown Candy Kitchen Landmark

In 1841, the village of North St. Louis was absorbed into the City of St. Louis. By mid-century the area was overwhelmingly German born. The latter half of the nineteenth century was an era of unprecedented growth and industry. Large numbers of Polish immigrants settled in the near north side, including present day Old North St. Louis. By the turn of the century, 14th Street had become a major commercial district. Furniture and appliances, clothing and hardware stores, plus groceries and confectioneries attracted shoppers from far beyond the immediate neighborhood.

In the twentieth century, the largest group of new residents have been rural families from within the United States, many migrating from Southeast Missouri, Arkansas and the Deep South because of hardships wrought by the Depression. The period after the Second World War ushered in another turning point for the neighborhood. Many residents moved to the suburbs, encouraged by new housing developments and high-speed expressways. Interstate Highway 70 (I-70), dedicated in 1971, disconnected the neighborhood from its industrial sector and furthered abandonment.

Hyde Park

Hyde Park's boundaries are defined as Ferry Street on the North, southward along Interstate Highway 70 (I-70) to the East, westward on Palm Street to the South, northward on Glasgow Avenue to North Florissant Avenue to the West to Ferry Street.

Most of the Hyde Park Neighborhood is located within the 1850 boundaries of the former Township of Bremen. The heavily German influenced neighborhood was known for its breweries and brick factories. Hyde Park is situated to the north of downtown St. Louis and features some of the city's oldest architecture. The heart of the neighborhood is Hyde Park which was established in 1854. Buildings surrounding the park consist of large three story townhouses and simple multi-family houses.

Hyde Park Neighborhood

Henry, Elizabeth, Harry, Annetta and Otto moved to 1408 Newhouse Avenue in the Hyde Park Neighborhood on 8 June 1908. Henry and Elizabeth built this four flat family house. Louis was born into this house in 1911. Later, they move to 1429 Newhouse Avenue on 8 November 1911. The building contained the butcher shop on the first floor and living quarters on the second and third floors. They maintained ownership of the property at 1408 Newhouse Avenue.

Hyde Park Multi-Family Flats

Hyde Park first changed from rural to urban in character with the settling of German immigrants in the 1840's. The affordable land overlooking the Mississippi was conveniently located along old Bellefontaine Road (now Broadway), which was mostly a produce route running north from downtown. By 1850, the town of New Bremen, named after the newcomers' town of origin, was founded. The center and namesake of the neighborhood, Hyde Park, resulted from the sale of 14.5 acres to the city by the Farrar family estate in 1854. By 1856, this new thriving center of commercial and industrial activity was annexed by St. Louis.

As rail lines and industry expanded along the Mississippi River, the area quickly grew denser in population and housing stock. The openings of the Merchants and McKinley Bridges further intensified industry and commerce. The crossroads of transit and rail resulted in a diverse neighborhood of both working and middle classes.

Over time, with an old housing stock and a dwindling industrial base, Hyde Park endured the fate of many postindustrial American inner-city neighborhoods. The routing of the interstate through the neighborhood further sped disinvestment, with traffic decreasing on once highly visible commercial streets.

Many family members resided in the Old North St. Louis and Hyde Park Neighborhoods. The table below shows each person, each neighborhood and lists when and where they resided:

After the passing of Elizabeth in 1943, the ownership of the property at 1406-8 Newhouse Avenue passed to her four children. Annetta was the "landlord". She maintained and rented the units. When the property was sold, the proceeds were used to purchase a property at 9232 Catalina Drive, where she would live rent free, as requested by her mother. This property was sold in 1990 with the proceeds being distributed amongst the siblings.

Chapter 5 - The History of St. Louis

St. Louis Gateway Arch National Park

In 1764, French-born fur traders Pierre Laclede and his stepson Auguste Chouteau journeyed upriver from New Orleans and founded the city, naming it for Louis IX, the Crusader King of France. St. Louis was built 18 miles south of the confluence of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers. Napoleon sold the Louisiana Territory to President Thomas Jefferson in 1803.

Pierre Laclede and Auguste Chouteau

President Thomas Jefferson sent explorers Meriwether Lewis and William Clark from St. Louis to chart the new Louisiana Territory. The expedition dates were from May 1804 to September 1806. The westward movement of Americans was through St. Louis – “The Gateway to the West”.

Lewis and Clark Expedition at Three Forks

The first steamboats arrived in St. Louis in 1817, heralding a new era of commerce and travel along the Mississippi River. Soon it was common to see more than 100 steamboats lining the cobblestone levee during the day.

St. Louis Riverfront Levee

In 1874, St. Louis became a major industrial center with dozens of breweries operating in the city, including Anheuser-Busch. Clothing and shoe manufacturers thrived in St. Louis and warehouses that populated the downtown’s garment district.

Anheuser-Busch Brewery - St. Louis, Missouri

New immigrants changed the face of St. Louis throughout the 19th century. Joining the French, Spanish, Indians and African descendants were the Germans who settled in St. Louis and along the Rhine-like Missouri River valley near Hermann, Missouri. The Irish escaped the famine of their homeland and the Italians who worked their clay mines.

Hermann, Missouri (courtesy of Missouri Division of Tourism)

To honor St. Louis' role in the westward expansion of the United States, civic leaders planned a grand World's Fair, officially dubbed the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. The 1904 celebration, held in Forest Park, recognized the 100th anniversary of the Louisiana Purchase. The 1904 Summer Olympic Games were held on the campus of Washington University in St. Louis. It was the first time that the Olympic Games were held outside Europe.

1904 World's Fair – St. Louis

Charles Lindbergh captured the world's imagination by crossing the Atlantic non-stop. His 1927 solo flight from New York to Paris took place in an airplane nicknamed "Spirit of St. Louis".

Charles Lindbergh - Spirit of St. Louis

The St. Louis Arch is the nation's tallest monument, soaring 630 feet above the Mississippi River. It is constructed of 886 tons of stainless steel welded into a seamless curve, assembled with such precision that if either leg had veered off by just one-sixty-fourth of an inch the two couldn't have been joined in the middle. Completed in 1964, the Gateway Arch, the Midwest's best-known monument, was hailed as linking "the rich heritage of yesterday with the richer future of tomorrow".

Building of the Gateway Arch

When America headed into space, St. Louis provided a launching pad for the McDonnell Space Program, as Project Mercury and Gemini crafts were assembled under the tutelage of McDonnell Aircraft. Aviation continues to play a major role in St. Louis today with Boeing's military manufacturing operations located in the area.

St. Louis has moved into the 21st century with an eye on revitalization and renewal.

Chapter 6 - The Schmidt's – The Early Generations

Johannes I and Anna Katharina (Peil) Schmidt

Johannes and Anna Katharina (Peil) Schmidt - 1900

The Schmidt family roots can be traced back to the early 1800's to the village of Wittelsberg.

The Schmidt family house is located at Nr. 62, Wittelsberg, Marburg, Hesse-Nassau, Prussia, Germany. The Schmidt family house has been continuously occupied since the 1820's. The address was changed to Nr. 62, 3551 Wittelsberg, Krs. Marburg a/L, Hessen, Germany and then to its current address of Eschbaumstraße 3, 35085 Ebsdorfergrund-Wittelsberg, Germany.

The origins of the house can be traced to Johannes Schmidt in the late 1810's or early 1820's. Documentation was found in the book Wittelsberg: A Chronicle of a Hessen Farming Village in Ebsdorfergrund by Justus Kaiser. On pages 84-85, the residence at Nr. 62 is listed as: Haus/Hofname (Farm Name): Schmidtches (Hannes), Damaliger Besitzer (Owner at that time): Schmidt, Johannes.

The original owner of the residence at Nr. 62 was Johannes and Helene (Mank) Schmidt.

Nr. 62, Wittelsberg, Marburg, Hesse-Nassau, Prussia, Germany Eschbaumstraße 3, 35085 Ebsdorfergrund-Wittelsberg, Germany

Johannes Schmidt (1841-1909) was the son of Johannes and Helene (Mank) Schmidt. His death certificate listed his parents as Johannes and Helene (Mank) Schmidt. He was listed in various birth and marriage documents as Johannes Schmidt I. He was born in the Village of Wittelsberg, Kreis Marburg, Province of Hesse-Nassau in the Kingdom of Preußen (Prussia), Deutschland (Germany).

Johannes was a "white" cooper. He made straight-staved containers like washtubs, buckets and butter churns, which would hold water and other liquids but did not allow shipping of the liquids. Usually there was no bending of wood involved in white cooperage.

Anna Katharina Peil (1838-1902) was the daughter of Johann Georg and Elisabeth (Funck) Peil. Her death certificate listed her parents as Johann Georg and Elisabeth Peil. She was also born in Wittelsberg.

Johannes Schmidt married Anna Katharina Peil around 1864. They had four children: Johannes (1866-1938), Henry (1870-1931), Heinrich (1873-1900) and Elisabeth (1878-1951).

Chapter 8 - The Schmidt's of America - Henry and Heinrich

Henry and Elizabeth (Fehr) Schmidt

Henry J Schmidt (1870-1931) was the second son of Johannes Schmidt (1841-1909) and Anna Katharina Peil (1838-1902). He was born in the Village of Wittelsberg, Kreis Marburg, Province of Hesse-Nassau in the Kingdom of Preußen (Prussia), Deutschland (Germany).

Henry was raised in the Schmidt family house located at Nr. 62, Wittelsberg, Marburg, Hesse-Nassau, Prussia, Germany. The Schmidt family house has been continuously occupied since the 1820's. The address was changed to Nr. 62, 3551 Wittelsberg, Krs. Marburg a/L, Hessen, Germany and then to its current address of Eschbaumstraße 3, 35085 Ebsdorfergrund-Wittelsberg, Germany.

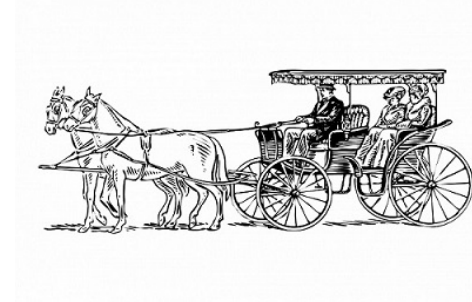

Henry was twice rejected for compulsory army training due to his short height. He said "Twice they did reject me, they won't have a chance for a third time. I will leave my homeland and go to America".

Several of his school classmates had already left for America. These friends were; Henry's girlfriend Gertrude, George Kiefer (in 1887), along with Adam, Frank and William Bender. Gertrude went to Louisville, Kentucky. George Kiefer went to St. Louis, Missouri. The Bender brothers went to Little Rock, Arkansas.

Henry left the Port of Bremen on 11 August 1891 aboard the S/S Spree. He arrived at the Port of New York on 19 August 1891. He immediately went to Louisville, Kentucky to meet up with his girlfriend. When he arrived there, he learned that his girlfriend had married. So, Henry got himself a job as a coachman driving a Surrey. The job was not really suited to him, but he remained in Louisville. He lived at 910 East Gray Street in Louisville, Kentucky.

Surrey circa 1890

His friend George Kiefer had settled down in St. Louis, Missouri and had since married. George purchased a saloon and small hotel in 1896 in the Tower Grove neighborhood at 1532 Tower Grove Avenue in South St. Louis. George encouraged Henry to leave Louisville and come to St. Louis. Henry left Louisville and moved to St. Louis in 1896.

Shortly after arriving in St. Louis, Henry joined the Hessen Support Society (Hessen Unterstützungs Verein) to which George Kiefer was a member. There he met a butcher, William Meinsen, from North St. Louis, who owned the Meinsen Slaughter Company located at 333 North 14th Street. William offered Henry a job as an apprentice butcher. There he learned the profession and how to run a business, from beginning to end. He also lived with the Meinsen's in their North St. Louis flat at 3339 Blair Avenue.

German/American Society

The Hessen Verein held their meetings on Sunday afternoons. There he was befriended by Henry Justus Andreas Fehr (1844-1904). Henry said you are a new member; you live close to me and you are welcome to come home with me for supper. We have plenty to eat. Henry accepted the invitation and went to the Fehr's home for dinner. The Fehr family lived at 1120 Angelica Street in North St. Louis.

Henry's wife Katherine (Leich) Fehr (1853-1934) was a good German cook. The Fehr's had six children: Anna, Elizabeth Christine (1874-1943), Katherine, Henry, Louis and Charles. That is how Henry Schmidt met his future wife, Elizabeth Fehr.

Elizabeth was employed as a House Maid (Nanny) working for the Charles Stifel family at 20th Street and St. Louis Avenue. Charles Stifel was the owner of the Charles G. Stifel Brewing Company, North 14th and Howard Streets. She worked for the Stifel's from 1895 until 1898.

Charles G. Stifel's Brewing Company

Henry applied to become a United States Citizen on 30 March 1896. He became a Naturalized United States citizen on 12 October 1900.

Henry Schmidt's Citizenship Papers

In 1897, Henry had a chance to rent a butcher store at 1434 Madison Street (at the corner of Madison Street and Blair Avenue) in North St. Louis. He started his own meat market.

St. Louis Levee circa 1890

Soon after Henry opened his butcher shop, a courtship began between Henry and Elizabeth. A proposal was had and a wedding date was set. They began to look in the neighborhood of the butcher store for an apartment. They rented a three room apartment at 1447 Clinton Street, one block from the butcher store. The apartment was on the second floor with outside steps leading into the apartment and to the outhouse.

Henry and Elizabeth were married on Wednesday, 13 November 1898. Henry was 28 years old and Elizabeth was 24 years old. The wedding was held at 8:00 p.m. at the Fehr family home at 1120 Angelica Street. The reception was held at the Northwestern Hotel, 4919 Natural Bridge Avenue. The reception began at 8:30 p.m.

Soon after they were married, Henry and Katherine Fehr had an opportunity to purchase a family burial plot at St. Peter's Cemetery. They asked Henry and Elizabeth if they thought they could afford to spend money on a burial plot with them. Elizabeth said we just got married and we don't need a cemetery plot. However, Henry said we better go in with them and purchase the plot. I am a new citizen and I don't want them to be angry.

St. Peter's Cemetery

Henry and Elizabeth became proud parents of a son, Harry John William (1899-1980). Two additional children, Annetta Katherine (1902-1998) and Otto Charles Henry (1905-1982) quickly followed.

Henry J Schmidt and Family - 1905

Since the family had grown, it was evident that their current 3 room living quarters on Clinton Street was insufficient. They decided to build a new house closer to North St. Louis.

However, it was not financially possible for them to build a new house. The Stifel family, who Elizabeth had worked for before they were married, encouraged them to build the new house because more room was needed. The Stifel's advised them to buy ground and have a four family home built. Henry and Elizabeth would then have the space they needed. The Stifel's would provide the financing. Henry and Elizabeth would pay the Stifel's whenever they could and in any amount.

1406-8 Newhouse Avenue - 2016

Land was purchased at 1408 Newhouse Avenue, in the Hyde Park neighborhood in North St. Louis. A four family home was built with indoor plumbing, a downstairs basement for coal storage, additional storage along with a laundry room. It was located just 3 blocks from the public school and 2 blocks from their church. Hyde Park was just 3 blocks away and the street car line was one block away at the end of the street. Henry, Elisabeth, Harry, Annetta and Otto moved into a 1st floor apartment on 8 June 1908.

Henry with Horse and Wagon in front of Butcher Shop

Life had changed. Henry had to buy a horse and wagon to go between the butcher shop and home. Living was quite comfortable now and the business was better. The Stifel family was proud of Henry and Elizabeth and they paid off their debt quickly.

Soon thereafter, Henry and Elizabeth welcomed their fourth child, Louis Fehr (1911-1972). The family was now complete.

The current butcher shop at the corner of Madison Street and Blair Avenue needed improvements. The owner of the store would not improve the building. It was suggested to Henry that he try and purchase the land across the street from the family home at 1406-1408 Newhouse Avenue and build a new store with living quarters. Again, the Stifel family encouraged Henry and Elizabeth to purchase the ground and have a 3 story building built and offered to undertake the expenses. They purchased the site of a brickyard owned by the Schlingmann family at 1429 Newhouse Avenue. Construction began.

After completion, Henry, Elizabeth and the four children moved from 1408 Newhouse to 1429 Newhouse on 2 November 1911. The family lived on the second and third floors. Elizabeth cared for the family while Henry managed the butcher shop on the first floor.

The winter of 1911-1912 was exceptionally cold. Due to the large debt on hand, Henry decided not to have a furnace installed and the entire family slept in one bedroom heated by a large coal stove. It was hard to heat the room with the coal stove. Henry said it was impossible to live this way and he had a furnace installed the next year. Henry also purchased a Ford truck to replace his horse and wagon.

Henry's Truck

The new butcher shop was something to behold – fresh meat, smoked and pickled tongues, corned beef, smoked mett sausage and very fresh poultry. A smokehouse was constructed in the backyard for the hams and smoked sausage.

Henry J Schmidt Butcher Shop – 1911

The days were not easy. Every weekend a coop of live poultry arrived and the whole family pitched in to clean and dress the chickens. Caring for the market became a family project. The market was open seven days a week. The market was open on Sunday only until 9:00 a.m. so the family could attend church services.

As the boys grew up, they helped in the store. Harry, the oldest, worked after school and on weekends taking orders and making deliveries. Later, Harry would open his own market near the corner of Ferry Street and Blair Avenue in the College Hills neighborhood.

Henry returned to Germany in 1921 with Elizabeth. It is believed that this was his only trip back to the "Old Country". His visit ended up being extended. While there, he was working in the fields and broke his leg. After a convalescent period, they returned to America.

Henry became ill in 1930 and his son Louis took over the shop. By this time, the shop had become a butcher shop, a grocery store with refrigerated counters, fresh produce and some staples such as bread and canned goods. Henry passed on 23 May 1931, leaving Louis to run the shop.

Return trip from Germany was onboard the S.S. Washington

Elizabeth and Annetta visited Germany in 1934. This was Annetta's first trip to Europe to meet her cousins, aunts, uncles, nieces and nephews.

The butcher shop prospered under Louis' management until it was sold in 1943. It was about this time during World War II that the supermarkets were coming into the limelight and the names of Kroger and Food Center became synonymous with shopping. Louis joined the police force, ending the market. Frank Reinert purchased the property and it became a neighborhood saloon that even catered to the children by selling ice cream and soda pop.

Harry and Clara were married on 11 October 1925 at Zion Lutheran Church in Jarvis, Jefferson County, Missouri, USA.

Harry bought a grocery store and residence at 4300 Blair Avenue, on the corner of Ferry Street, in North St. Louis after they were married. The grocery store was located on the first floor of the two-story building. The family lived upstairs (4300A Blair Avenue) in four rooms. Harry and Clara's son, Robert Harry Schmidt, was born there. The site is now a vacant lot three blocks west of Interstate 70 (I-70).

Harry closed the business after the Great Depression hit in 1929. He rented the first floor commercial space for use as a tavern and later as a deli.

After shuttering his shop, Harry became a meat cutter for the Piggly Wiggly grocery store chain. When Kroger acquired part of the Piggly Wiggly chain, he worked for Kroger in various supermarkets in the St. Louis area until his retirement.

The family moved to a house at 4501 Athlone Avenue in North St. Louis, on the corner of Rosalie Street. Harry and Clara lived there until the 1960's, when they moved to 2463 Hallfer Drive in Jennings, a North St. Louis County suburb. Harry lived there until his death.

Harry was active in Friedens Evangelical and Reformed Church at 19th Street and Newhouse Avenue in North St. Louis. He sang for decades in the choir, appeared in light stage productions sponsored by the church, and belonged the church Brotherhood, for which he wrote and published a newsletter. Harry and Clara maintained their Frieden's Church membership long after the neighborhood declined and membership dwindled.

Harry also was active in Freemasonry. He enjoyed listening to music, making items from wood in his basement workshop and smoking cigars.

In retirement, Harry went on fishing trips to the Ozarks in southwestern Missouri and helped funeral homes as sort of a professional pallbearer.

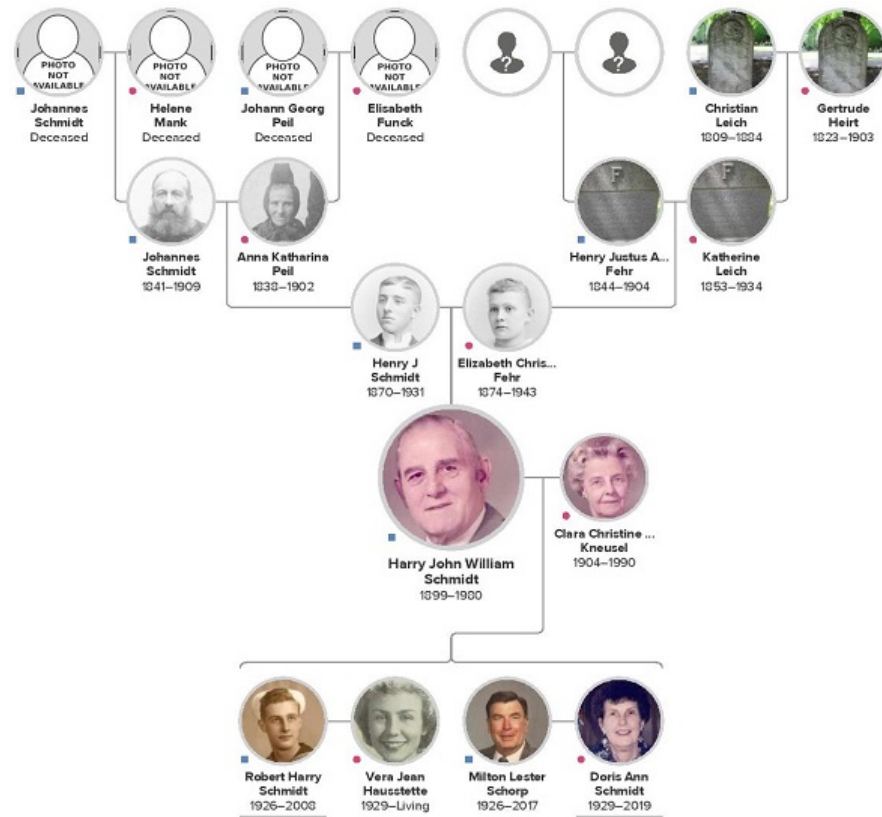

Clara was born and reared on a 100-acre farm near Pevely in Jefferson County, Missouri, USA. She was educated in a one-room schoolhouse in Pevely, Missouri and never attended high school. Clara grew up speaking mostly German. She remembered that as a child she would sneak into the attic of their home to speak English with her sister Pauline.

Clara worked as a live-in house maid for a doctor in South St. Louis before marrying Harry. She never had another job outside the home. She never learned to drive a car.

After Clara's father Adolf Albert Kneusel died in 1931, Clara's mother, Anna M Caroline Pooker Kneusel moved in with Clara, Harry, Robert and Doris. She lived with Clara and Harry until her death in 1964.

After Harry died in 1980, Clara moved to an apartment in Springfield, Missouri, USA. Her three granddaughters, Denise, Dianne and Lynn Schorp, lived there and her daughter and son-in-law, Doris and Milton Schorp, lived nearby on Table Rock Lake near Kimberling City, Missouri. Clara enjoyed babysitting Dianne and Lynn's children.

Biography

Doris Ann Schmidt was born on 1 October 1929 in St. Louis, Missouri, USA. She and Milton Lester Schorp were married on 27 April 1950 at Friedens Evangelical and Reformed Church, 19th Street and Newhouse Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri, USA. The wedding reception was held at the Imperial Ballroom, West Florissant and Goodfellow Avenues, St. Louis, Missouri, USA. She passed away on Tuesday, 18 June 2019, at age 89, at The Manor at Elfindale in Springfield, Missouri, USA. She was buried on 21 June 2019 in Evergreen Cemetery, Republic, Missouri, USA.

She was baptized in 1929 in Friedens Evangelical and Reformed Church, St. Louis, Missouri, USA. She was a Housewife. Her Godmother was Annetta Schmidt. She was confirmed in 1943 in Friedens Evangelical and Reformed Church, St. Louis, Missouri, USA.

She grew up in the Hyde Park neighborhood and attended Central High School, graduating at the age of 16. She began working at a dress factory where she learned to sew. She also worked as a Draftswoman for Bell Telephone Company, drafting where poles and lines were to be built.

Doris's family were long time members of Friedens Church in St. Louis, in the mostly German community where they lived. It was there where she met Milton Schorp before he joined the Navy during WWII. When he returned to St. Louis, they dated and were married on 27 April 1950.

Together they worked hard and started a family, raising three girls. Doris was constantly sewing, making all the girl's clothes, coats and even suits for Milton. She was always very fashion conscious, and when Jackie Kennedy would appear on television in the 1960's with a new outfit, Doris would head to the fabric department at the Famous-Barr Department store. Within a day, she'd have an exact replica of Jackie's ensemble completed, including matching gloves and always a reproduction handmade hat.

She and Milt loved to travel, and the family took many long car trips over the year. They visited every state except Hawaii and Alaska. When they visited Disneyland in California, the whole family wore red checkered shirts Doris had sewn, so as not to get lost from each other. Some years, the family took short trips, first traveling to southwestern Missouri to the Lake of the Ozarks, then to the nearby Table Rock Lake where they eventually moved. They owned and operated the Arrowhead Resort on Table Rock Lake in the 1970's.

After they sold the resort, they bought some wooded land to build a home overlooking the lake. Milton was now working at the Silver Dollar City amusement park in Branson, Missouri, USA. After work, he would cut down trees. Then, during the day, Doris would start a fire and almost single-handedly drag the limbs and brush to the fire to clear their acreage. In the spring, they always planted a huge garden. The summers were spent with the grandchildren picking vegetables after a day on the lake fishing and swimming.

Doris was an excellent cook. It was a common occurrence to have 15 to 20 people around the dinner table at their house at the lake. Summers were always barbecued pork steaks and a giant pot of German spaghetti. Cooler weather brought on vegetable soup with homemade noodles and just-baked bread. Dessert was either rhubarb, apple or peach crumb pie. Each grandchild had their favorite food that she made, and it would always be waiting for them when it was their turn to go to Grandma and Grandpa's house for the weekend.

She was enumerated on the census of 1930 at 4300 Blair Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri, USA. She was enumerated on the census of 1940 at 4300 Blair Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri, USA. She resided at 4501 Athlone Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri, USA on 8 May 1946. She and Milton Lester Schorp resided in Reeds Spring, Missouri, USA in 1995.

Chapter 18 - Annetta Katherine Schmidt

Annetta Katherine Schmidt - 1925

Annette (Becker) Nibch (Goddaughter), Annetta Schmidt, Helen (Böttner) Becker (1st Cousin), Fredi Nibch (Annette's Husband) – May 1967

Annetta Katherine Schmidt (1902-1998) was the second child and only daughter of Henry J Schmidt (1870-1931) and Elizabeth Christine Fehr (1874-1943). Annetta was born in St Louis, Missouri, USA.

Annetta never married. She stayed at home with her mother, Elizabeth, and was with her until Elizabeth's death in 1943.

She graduated from Clay Elementary School, 3820 North 14th Street, St. Louis, Missouri, USA on 17 June 1915.

Annetta and her mother visited Germany beginning in June 1934. They spent their time in Wittelsberg, Kleinseelheim and Mornshausen. They departed Germany from Bremen on 15 August 1934 for the United States of America onboard the S/S Washington of the Transatlantic Steamship Company. They arrived at the Port of New York, New York, USA on 23 August 1934.

During WWII, Annetta would collect new and used clothing and shoes. She would package the items and take them to the post office for delivery to her cousins, aunts, uncles, nieces and nephews in Germany. It still amazes me today that those packages were delivered and received during the time of war. This was her effort to help make the hard times a little better for the family members in Germany.

Annetta was a good German cook. She learned how to cook from her mother. Annetta was always making German dishes, especially sausage, sauerkraut and potatoes.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Logo

Annetta was employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone in St. Louis, Missouri, USA beginning in 1919. Her first job was that of a telephone operator in the St. Louis office. She then became a summaries clerk in the service inspection bureau in St. Louis serving Eastern Missouri and Arkansas. Later, she became a supervisor and central office clerk. She completed 25 years of service on 3 April 1944. She retired on 10 January 1945.

When Robert Weber began attending the University of Missouri in 1973, he selected German as one of his classes. He approached Aunt Annetta and began asking many questions about our “German relatives”. After numerous discussions, they both decided to travel to Germany so Robert could meet the family. Annetta “passed the torch” to Robert to keep the family connections alive. To this day, we are all grateful that she took the time to ensure the family bonds remained alive. Robert has passed this bond on to his sons, Brian and Kevin. Ulla (Nibch) Michel has passed this on to her daughter Daniela and her son Sebastian.

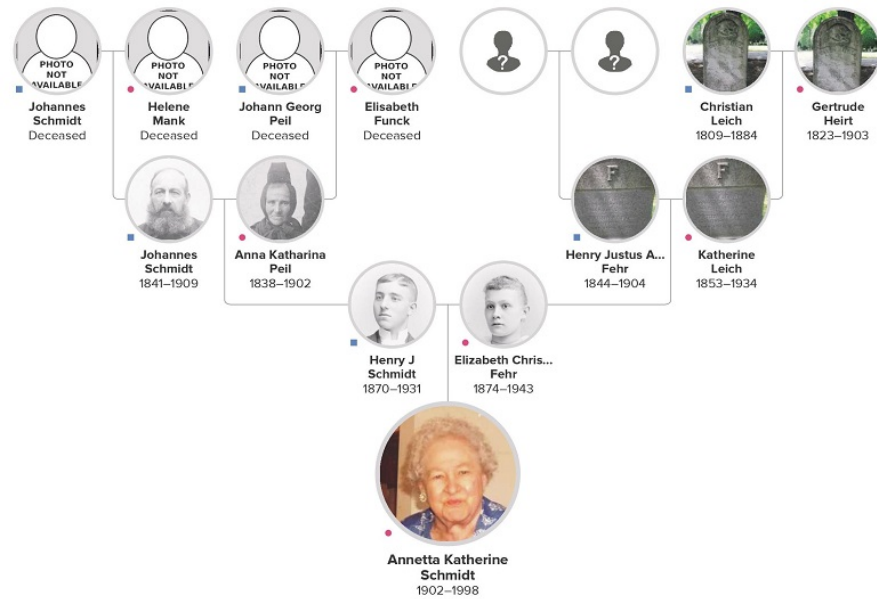

Annetta learned her German from her mother and father. Her German was good enough to talk with everyone. My favorite German word of hers was “Flugzug”. She was trying to say “airplane”, but her word meant “flying train”. The correct word is Flugzeug. We all still laugh about this today.

Annetta’s brother Otto once told us a story about the only time Annetta attempted to drive a car. He was in the car with her and she promptly drove off the road and into a telephone pole. She immediately got out of the car and never drove a car again.

Annetta was a very religious person. When she was no longer able to attend Friedens Church in North St. Louis City in person, she would attend church on the television. She would never miss a Sunday.

Chapter 20 - The Louis Fehr Schmidt Family

Louis Fehr and Doris Lillian (Kallemeier) Schmidt

Louis Fehr Schmidt (1911-1972) was the youngest child of Henry J Schmidt (1870-1931) and Elizabeth Christine Fehr (1874-1943). Louis was born in St. Louis, Missouri, USA.

Doris Lillian Kallemeier (1912-2001) was the youngest child of William Charles Kallemeier (1884-1917) and Addie Mary Brinkmann (1886-1954). Doris was born in St. Louis, Missouri, USA.

Louis Schmidt married Doris Kallemeier on 24 November 1932. They had one child: Evelyn (1935-).

Louis took over the operation of the Henry Schmidt Meat Market in 1930 when his father became ill. He operated the market until 1943 when he decided to close it. He closed the market because of the difficulty with food rationing stamps during World War II and the opening of newer and larger grocery stores, like the Kroger supermarkets.

During World War II, Louis was in his early 30's and still eligible to be drafted into military service. The City of St. Louis needed police officers and he decided to enter the police academy and became a patrol officer. This would mean that he was no longer eligible to be drafted into military service.

During his time with the police department, he rose to the rank of corporal. When he was offered a promotion to sergeant, he declined the promotion and remained a corporal, as he was in a position that he enjoyed. He was a member of the narcotic squad investigating crimes concerning illegal drugs. He was also one of the first members of the Major Case Squad that investigated the most difficult cases in the St. Louis area.

Louis always took his grandchildren to the St. Louis Police Circus. One year at the circus, they got to meet the 3 Stooges (Moe, Larry and Curly Joe) who were performing in the circus.

One of my most vivid memories of my grandfather is when I was 9 years old and the St. Louis Baseball Cardinals were playing in the World Series against the New York Yankees. Not having any tickets for the game, he snuck both of us into the game on his policeman's badge. The usher opened the gate, let us in, and closed the gate behind us after we were in. Unfortunately, the Cardinal's lost game 8-3. The Cardinals won the World Series Championship the very next day.

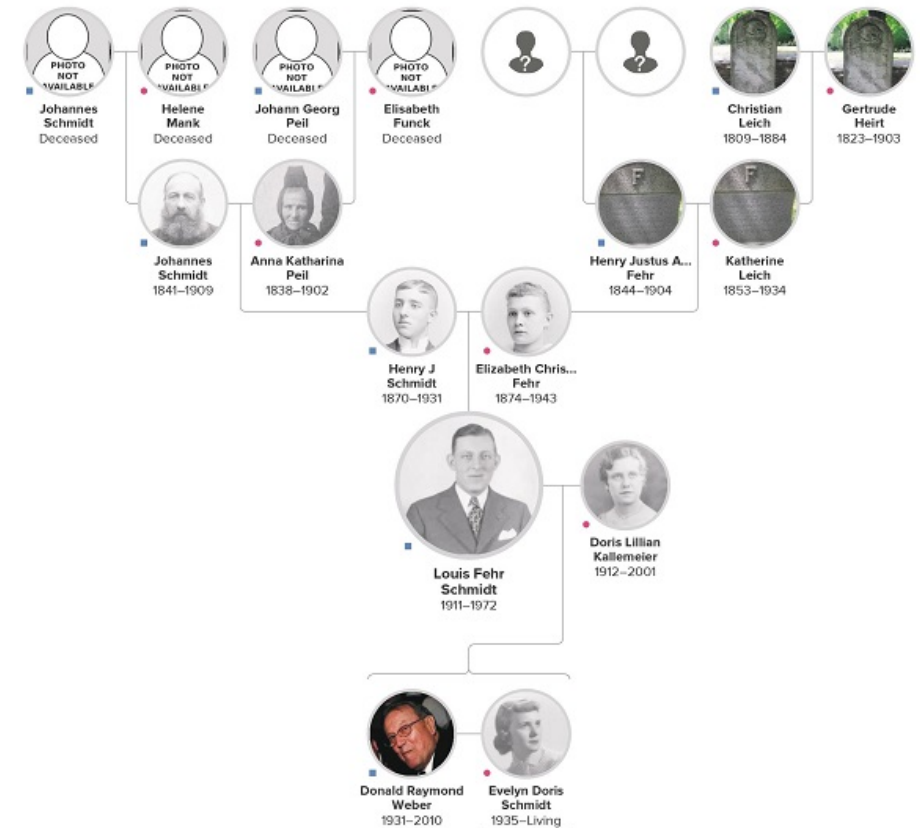

Game Six of the 1964 Baseball World Series

Louis was very active as a Shriner and Mason. He was Master of Beacon Masonic Lodge #3 A.F. & A.M. in 1948 and President of the Moolah Shrine's Director Staff in 1968.

Louis and Doris would vacation on the Jersey shore in Ocean City, New Jersey, USA with their friends Florence and Morris Holden, who lived in Philadelphia and owned a summer cottage in Ocean City.

Unfortunately, Louis' life was cut short in 1972 by lung cancer.

Biography

Kerry Robert Schmidt was born on 26 May 1951 in St. Louis, Missouri, USA. He was born at Deaconess Hospital, St. Louis, Missouri, USA. He and Beverly Louise Twitchell were married on 9 June 1979 in Burnside Christian Church, Burnside, Illinois, USA.<1>

He was baptized on June 1951 at Friedens Evangelical and Reformed Church, 19th Street and Newhouse Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri, USA. He was confirmed on 22 March 1964 at John Knox Presbyterian Church, 13200 New Halls Ferry Road, Florissant, Missouri, USA. He graduated from McCluer High School, 1896 South New Florissant Road, Florissant, Missouri, USA on 6 June 1969.

Kerry learned to play the clarinet in fourth grade, joined Cub Scouts and played Khoury League baseball. As a junior high student, Kerry got hooked on rock 'n' roll, listening to KXOK-AM radio every chance he got. Kerry joined the Sentinel Chapter of DeMolay, a Masonic-sponsored organization for boys. He reached the top post, Master Councilor, when he was a freshman in college.

In the fall of 1969, Kerry started attending the University of Missouri-St. Louis. In 1971, Kerry transferred to the University of Missouri-Columbia, enrolling in the School of Journalism's news-editorial sequence. He earned a bachelor of journalism degree in 1973. After a week off, he started work for the Shelbina Democrat, a weekly newspaper in a town of around 2,000 people in northeast Missouri.

In 1975, Kerry then landed a better-paying job at the Hancock County Journal-Pilot, a weekly paper in Carthage, a town of about 3,000 folks in western Illinois not far from Iowa and Missouri. Kerry came up with an idea in 1976 to write a feature story to dispel some big-city people's notion that folks in small towns rolled up the sidewalks after 5 o'clock. He interviewed an overnight hospital attendant, a night constable and a Continental Telephone Company operator assigned to the midnight-to-8 a.m. shift. The latter was Beverly Twitchell. She and Kerry started dating, and when Kerry got a job as a reporter at The Daily Dispatch in Moline, Illinois in 1977, Beverly transferred to a Continental Telephone branch in Hillside, Illinois.

In 1985 it was time for Kerry to take another new job, this one as a nightside copy editor at The Kansas City Times, a morning paper. It was the sister paper of The Kansas City Star, published in the evening by the same company. In 1990 the owner combined the two publications, printing only a morning edition and calling it The Kansas City Star. Kerry stayed on the night shift for 32 years, retiring in 2017.

Kerry Robert Schmidt resided at 1408 Newhouse Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri, USA on 26 May 1951. He resided at 421 Caithness Road, St. Louis, Missouri, USA in 1952. He resided at 9874 Lawnview Drive, St. Louis (Moline Acres), Missouri, USA in 1955. He resided at 3665 Tremont Drive, Florissant, Missouri, USA in 1961.
