A historical narration of those people and events with whom I share the past and the future. Whatever faults they may have had are not mine to judge, but I would rather record these things for future generations to read and ponder. I will in no way attempt to be judgmental or attempt to personally comment on any person or event and will, where possible, separate truth and conjecture.

A special thanks to my wife, Harriet, for her help in editing and making these documents a more presentable work.

Chapter 1 - The Old Country

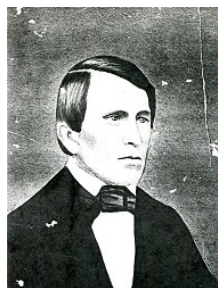

Ambrosius and Dorothea (Reiser) Weber's Wedding Picture

The Weber Saga begins in the eastern part of Prussia, Germany. Ambrosius Weber (1821-1883) was born on February 7, 1821 in Prussia. Johanna Dorothea (Reiser) Weber (1822-1903) was born on September 29, 1822, also in Prussia. The exact birthplace of Ambrosius is unknown. Because of what we have been told, Dorothea would indicate that she was from Berlin. The possible birth location for Ambrosius is in Silesia (Schlesien), Preußen, Germany. After WWII, this area of Upper Silesia was split between Poland and the Czech Republic. Many of the records, both church/parish registers and civil registration records, were damaged, destroyed or misplaced during the war.

It is believed that Ambrosius and Dorothea were married in Kaltwasser, Preußen, Germany and their five children were born there. Their children were Wanda (1851-1927), Laura (1852-1915), Olga (1853-1935), Otto (1856-1923) and Albert (1857-1940). The family resided in Kaltwasser, Preußen, Germany in 1864, as indicated in their immigration records. Today, the town is known as Zimne Wodky and is located in Poland. The German residents were expelled from Kaltwasser after the war. The church and civil records were destroyed in the war.

Biography

Johanna Dorothea Reiser was born on 29 September 1822 in Kaltwasser, Glatz, Breslau, Silesia, Preußen, Germany. Her Last Will and Testament lists her name as Johanna Dorothea Weber geb. (born) Reiser. <1> Missouri Death records indicate September 29, 1822 as her birthday. She and Ambrosius Weber were married about 1849 in Kaltwasser, Glatz, Breslau, Silesia, Preußen, Germany. She died on 26 March 1903, at age 80, in St. Louis, Missouri, USA. She was buried on 29 March 1903 in Bethany Cemetery, St. Louis, Missouri, USA. The wake was held at the house of David Gier, 1621 Knapp Street, St. Louis, Missouri. Cemetery location is Section 99 Bethany, Block N, Lot 5.00, Grave #2.

Johanna Dorothea Reiser was a house keeper (Keeping House). In her Song Book from Germany In Harry Hands. Printed 1800 Bound 1805, J. G. Reiser, this Book has inscribed in the front cover the names: Eleonora Reiser, born Sept 5 1805 and Karlin Reiser, born Sept 5 1807. It is unclear of how these names fit into the family tree. She and Ambrosius Weber resided in Kaltwasser, Glatz, Breslau, Silesia, Preußen, Germany, on 1 May 1864. As a result of the Second World War, like almost all of Silesia, Kaltwasser fell to Poland in 1945 and was renamed Zimne Wody. The German population was expelled. Chapter 2 - Coming to America

Ambrosius sailed first from Hamburg on August 11, 1864, according to the ship manifest Hero and arrived in New York via Liverpool in September 1864. Dorothea and the children sailed a year later from Hamburg on May 13, 1865, according to the ship manifest Teutonia and arrived in New York from Hamburg via Southampton on June 2, 1865. Dorothea was robbed of most of her valuables on the voyage over. However, she still had her German hymn book which she treasured. We were told that she sang in the Kaiser Wilhelm Church in Berlin, the ruin of which is preserved as a war relic in present downtown Berlin. As a child, I remember being told that she sang a solo at the Kaiser's request and she related that when the service was over, they brought a large chair to the chancel and the people were allowed to petition the Kaiser.

Teutonia - This ship brought Dorothea, Wanda, Laura, Olga, Otto and Albert to America.

In a deed dated April 29, 1867, Ambrosius and Dorothea purchased one hundred sixty acres of land near Rhineland, Montgomery County, Missouri, three miles from the city of Hermann on the north side of the Missouri River (copies of said documents are available in the family genealogy). It is said that the German immigrants who settled in this area believed it closely resembled the area from which they migrated from in Germany. Things did not go well. The men supplemented their farm income by working at a lime kiln, which was on the banks of the Missouri River. I was there with my dad, Harry O. Weber, Sr., in 1979, the year before he died, and although he did not remember how to get to the area where the farm was, he did point out the place where the lime kiln was located. Not much remained as the kilns had been scavenged over the years for other structures and only a few mounds remained.

Rhineland is located 83 miles west of St. Louis on the Missouri River near Hermann, Missouri.

Chapter 3 - Settling Down in Saint Louis

Kerry Patch is a neighborhood in the north of downtown St. Louis, Missouri where the Irish immigrants settled.

In 1869 they decided to sell the farm and move back to St. Louis. Ambrosius and the boys left first, floating downstream from Hermann and landing at the foot of Soulard Street in South St. Louis. One story said they sold the boat and their dog for $1.50; another gives the amount as 50 cents. An Irish woman directed them to a job breaking rock (10 hours a day) at 15 cents an hour. This was for the New Saint Charles Rock Road. As far as we know, the story has Dorothea and the girls coming to Soulard in 1872; from there, the family moved to “Kerry Patch”. Can you imagine the first German family in an Irish neighborhood? Ambrosius was a butcher. From the beginning of his butcher shop, he started a meat pickling enterprise. A picture from the mid to late 1880’s shows the 25 men and 7 boys who worked there.

The Great Chicago Fire of 1871 (Artist's rendering)

The Great Chicago fire of 1871 caused a demand for tradesmen and Otto, who knew carpentry, went to Chicago where there was an opportunity for employment. It was here he met the Bauch family and Christina. When this work was coming to an end, the company he worked for secured a contract to build barracks for the newly formed Royal Canadian Police in Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. As a child, I remember a heavy sealskin coat which Otto wore there. Returning to Chicago at the completion of the contract, he married Christina Bauch on July 8, 1883.

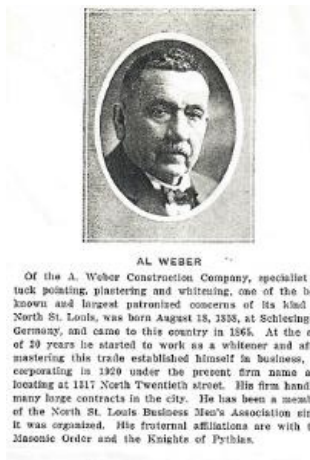

A. Weber & Company

When Ambrosius died in 1883, Dorothea carried on the business. Otto, with Christina, returned to St. Louis to help his mother Dorothea and brother Albert with the business. For almost twenty years, she drove a blind horse to the old Union Market to sell their wares, and she would ride with the drayman on Friday to settle their butcher-shop accounts. Dorothea was someone to be reckoned with. In 1895, Grandma Weber (Dorothea) "retired" from the business and sons Albert and Otto took over.

Chapter 4 - The Brothers Go Their Separate Ways

Albert left the family business in 1898 and started his own tuckpointing and plastering business. Later, he went into whitewashing, a popular form of decorating at the turn of the century before the advent of a multitude of paint products which we now enjoy. Hence the nickname, "Uncle Albert, the Whitener". He must have been quite a politician, as he not only did work in homes, he had city contracts for public buildings. His office was in the half-basement and his big roll-top desk was right below the window at 1317 North Twentieth Street.

A. Weber's Who's Who in North St. Louis (Undated)

Otto continued the meat pickling business as A. Weber & Company until 1904. It sold potted ham for shipment overseas. However, at that time there was an epidemic in America, similar to the Mad Cow Epidemic which swept England in 1895, and an embargo was placed on exports, forcing them to seek other manufacturing venues. The company was the first west of the Mississippi to can tomatoes and catsup. Cudahy had done it in the East. One thing that I sense about Otto was that he was not afraid of new technology. He was willing to try almost any kind of new equipment which came along, some of which didn't work very well, but he always kept trying. You have to understand the times and methods that were used. Tin cans were filled through a small hole, about 1 inch in diameter, and then a small disc soldered in the hole.

A. Weber & Company with Delivery Truck

Catsup bottles were recycled by putting buckshot in a mixture of salt-soda (a very caustic solution) and shaken to clean them before filling. I remember hearing a tale about the summer when Otto had put a consignment of canned tomatoes in the public warehouse, which receipt could be used for a letter of credit at the bank. For some reason, the cookers (which were supposed to process the tomatoes so they would keep) did not function properly and the warehouse manager called to say the tomatoes were exploding. Anyone who has had a home canning accident can relate to several hundred cases of tomatoes on the fritz. Some times when tomatoes were scarce, they would puree pumpkins, color and season them as tomato catsup.

Velie Motor Corporation Truck

When cars and trucks were starting to be accepted, Otto bought a brand new Velie Motors Corporation truck which was made in Rock Island, Illinois. Dad said that you could put a thin dime in the road and that truck couldn't pull over it if it was empty. An exaggeration of course, but apparently Grandpa was a person willing to try the latest technology. He also was an animal lover. He received a bad cut on his hand when he tried to stop a man who was beating a horse.

Dad also related that Otto would have his friends over to play Euchre in the covered area leading to the stable area. My dad, Harry O. Weber, Sr., then a young boy, would go to the saloon around the corner and bring draft beer or cigars for them. He said that once the men were talking about a widow, who lived in the row houses across from Saint Stanislaus Church and whose husband had died. With the approaching winter, she was going to have a hard time making ends meet. Each of the men threw fifty cents on the table, gave it to Dad and sent him to the coal dealer with instructions to deliver a ton of coal to the widow.

It was in 1909 that a man named Redemeyer, who was a street cleaner and somewhat of an entrepreneur, sent two loads of cabbage and a slicer to the Weber's, and this was the beginning of the sauerkraut venture. At that time, there were about seven sauerkraut makers in the area, the largest being owned by a man named Fred Bieser. He would make sauerkraut in the fall and sell out in the early spring and then go back to Germany until the following fall and start all over again. One can surmise he didn't like the Saint Louis summers. Uncle Walter knew the man who worked for Bieser and salted the cabbage for fermentation. Uncle Walter hired the man to demonstrate the way to do it properly.

1941 O'Fallon Street Factory

In order to be able to store product until the prices went up in mid-winter, Otto built a brick factory and the office/living quarters at 1927-1941 O'Fallon Street. The business thrived with Uncle Walter as the general overseer and production manager, while Uncle Albert did the buying and Aunt Ada supervised the women workers (as many as 30 to 40 at a time). Otto must have been a tough man. Aunt Ada told me that once when she was cleaning catsup bottles in the tank, she accidentally cut her hand on a piece of broken glass. When she told Otto of this he said; "If you were watching what you were doing you wouldn't have hurt yourself". I remember this tank as a child of about 7 or 8.

A farmer in Illinois named Huckster, who had done business with Albert, called and invited Albert to his farm which had been flooded. He had a lot of crayfish in the backwaters. Walter and Albert took Raymond with them and I think they had a couple of burlap sacks of crayfish that they dumped into the tank. (No, it had not been in use for many years at that time).

Otto's Citizenship Papers - 1888

Another thing I would like to mention was Otto's pride in becoming an American citizen. In this era when every ethnic group wants to have their own language perpetuated in this country, once Otto was naturalized on October 1, 1888, he wanted English spoken in his house. The only exception being perhaps a new immigrant needing assistance in getting started.

When Otto died on June 10, 1923, this was the end of this part of the story. The day after the funeral, the factory returned to work and when Uncle Walter told the oldest employee, Pete Hardy, what his assignment was for that day, Pete replied "Go to hell, my boss is dead!"

In 1921, Harry Sr. joined the company, first as bookkeeper and then as sales manager. After Grandpa's death, the company was incorporated as the WEBER KRAUT & CANNING COMPANY. At that time the officers were as follows: Albert, president; Walter, vice-president; Harry Sr., secretary-treasurer with Elizabeth and Ada on the Board. Raymond joined the company in production and maintenance and Marcella worked in the office part-time. This leaves one sibling unaccounted for - Christina Frances Weber.

He came to Cairo, Ill., from Mexico, in 1868, since which time he has conducted a bakery and confectionery store at that place. In 1879, he sustained a loss of about $2,000 by fire, and the same year erected two-story brick house on Commercial avenue, which he now occupies., Part 5, Page 27

Olga (Weber) Gier

Olga Weber married David Gier (1848-1926) in 1872. David and Olga had two daughters, Emma (1872-1948) and Laura (1873-1954). I remember them as two very kind people. They raised chickens in their big garage and "Uncle Dave", as we were taught to address him, sprouted oat seeds in the winter so the chickens would have some greens in the wintertime. They had a small bay window on the south side of the house and Aunt Emma had a beautiful fern in a large earthen stand, that to a small boy seemed to be a whole forest.

David was a barber. At the turn of the century, David was barbering at the Planter's Hotel in downtown Saint Louis when Buffalo Bill Cody came to town with his Wild West Show. When he appeared at the barber shop to get his hair cut, which he kept long, all of the barbers except David threw up their hands in dismay. David stepped forward, cut Buffalo Bill's hair and received a handsome tip.

Emma married Edward Engelland (1870-1958), who worked for Rice and Stix Dry Goods Company and sold shirt material. Their son, David Engelland (1894-1977) was quite a politician and had a tavern on Hanley Road near Kinloch, Missouri. He gave my brother and me a pinball machine that he had in his tavern. According to Raymond, he married twice and may have been president of Pine Lawn Bank.

Laura married Albert Rahing (1868-1929), who sold flour, jam and jelly, and they had one son, Charles Rahing (1897-1962). Raymond Weber said Laura's nickname was Lolly.

Otto A Weber

Otto Weber married Christina Bauch (1862-1895) in 1883 and they had six children: Walter (1884-1963); Albert (1886-1973); Ada (1888-1975); Emma (1890-1893); George (1893-1894); and Christina (1894-1983).

Emma burned to death when her dress caught fire and George died of diphtheria. The mother Christina died from tuberculosis about three weeks after the baby, Christina, was born. Otto raised both Walter and Albert, while Tanta (Aunt) Wanda raised Ada.

Great-grandmother Maria Sipple Bauch (1839-1916) took baby Christina and raised her in Chicago with the help of her bachelor son, Peter (1859-1945) (a crew foreman at Chicago Bridge & Iron), and her unmarried daughter, Emma (1875-1945). This arrangement worked for a while, but the children were growing into their teen years.

Otto married again. A marriage was (as they say) arranged between Otto and a widow, Elizabeth (Brockmeyer) Strecker (1872-1950). August Strecker (abt. 1870-1897) had passed away two years earlier and their daughter, Thelma (1895-1899) died of diphtheria. Otto and Elizabeth Strecker were married July 5, 1899. He was 43 years of age and she 27. To this union was born my father, Harry O. Weber, Sr (1900-1980).

Albert O Weber

Albert Weber married Francis Hackmann (1864-1942) and they lived at 1317 North Twentieth Street. They did not have any children. He was a member of the Masonic Order, the Grotto and Knights of Pythias. When my brother Donald or I would visit, he would give us a Buffalo Head nickel and they say he always closed a deal with a shot of Red Eye.

I always held him in awe since he kept his hair in a crew-cut and I thought he looked like the Kaiser himself. I do not know where he stood on religion but one story told to me by my Dad was that Albert would help the priest at Saint Stanislaus Church make sacramental wine for the Mass. Apparently, Great Uncle Albert sampled too much of the last year's stock, and the priest called his brother, Otto, for some assistance. Since Uncle Albert was fond of Dad (Harry Sr.), he went to the rectory and got Uncle Albert safely home down the alley.

By all accounts, Uncle Albert was a very unusual person. Once when the weather curtailed operations, he had his men shovel the snow off the flat roof. Another time when business was slow, he had them move a large pile of bricks from one side of the shop to the other and then back again. When the family first moved to Kerry Patch around 1880, we have been told that an Irish bully picked a fight with Uncle Albert, and after he had whipped the bully, they were accepted into the neighborhood.

He was a member of the Alton-Wood River Sportsman's Club, which is still located just off on Highway 67 between Alton and Godfrey, Illinois. The tale is told that in Albert's prime, he was coming out of City Hall, when a friend accosted him and asked for a loan of $20. He reached in his pocket and gave the man a $10 bill. When the recipient inquired as to the other $10, Albert is said to have replied, "I'm out ten and you are out ten, that makes twenty".

Chapter 6 - A New Beginning Otto and Christina

Some of the following may be a little out of chronological order, but I will try to include all of the recollections possible. Since so much of their lives are intertwined, the stories of Walter, Albert and Ada should be taken as a whole when considering the narration. They were in some respects like the “Three Musketeers.”

Walter, Albert, Ada and Emma

Walter Albert Weber

1963 Buick Riviera

Walter Weber was ten years old when his mother died and fifteen when his father remarried in 1899. For him, his sister, Ada, and brother, Albert, this was undoubtedly a difficult time of adjustment. It must have been puzzling for Walter to have his sister Ada raised by Aunt Wanda, and baby Christina raised in Chicago by Maria Sipple Bauch. After Otto remarried, Ada came back home and the family was reunited while Christina remained in Chicago.

The earliest tale I have about Walter and Albert is that when they were young men in their teens and dating. The first one to return home would leave his handkerchief on the door stoop as a sign that he had returned and the last one in had to lock the door. There is no doubt they worked hard all of their lives. However, this did not exclude personal hobbies or enjoying time off for fishing and some relaxation.

At the turn of the century, the cattle barons were clearing the ranges of wild horses so there would be more pasture for their beef cattle. Walter and Albert would go to the stockyards, buy a wild horse for $2 (?), take it home and break or tame it. They would sell it for a nice profit $20 or $30 (?) and start all over again. Once they spotted a little mare, which caught their fancy. They trained the horse and gave it to their sister, Ada. They also found a small surrey and Aunt Ada and her friend, Mamie Corbett, would take a ride, weather permitting, to Forest Park.

At one time Walter, Albert and Ada managed the Polish American Hall dances on Saturday nights. Walter was the bouncer, Ada sold tickets and refreshments and Albert was the manager. Although Walter was not of large stature, he knew how to take care of himself and kept order at the dances.

Polish American Hall

Another time, they managed an open-air nickelodeon theater for the Skorus brothers. One of the pastimes of that era was the costume ball and dance. Walter and Albert trained a billy goat to drink beer. One of them would dress in a top hat and a frock tail coat and get the goat to drink the beer. One such entrepreneur billed himself as “Professor Frankle’s Masked Ball”. Walter was, above all, a fun loving guy, a good dancer and a real “Dapper Dan”.

Skouras Brother's Theatre (circa 1912)

In 1910, he married Amanda Sack (1889-1976) and they had two children: my cousins, Raymond Albert (1912-2007) and Marcella Louise (1916-1986).

Once, when the Our Gang Bowling League had a dance, Joe Bromschweig, who owned a funeral parlor, brought a casket in his hearse. Later in the evening, Uncle Walter climbed into the casket, they stuck some flowers in his hands and carried him into the hall. Aunt Amanda could have killed him right then and there. I remember also when the first Buick Riviera came out, Uncle Walter bought the first one he could get a hold of. He loved that car and it brought out the “Barney Oldfield” in him. He loved to drive it.

I remember him talking about the time when he was a young boy, how they slid a slat through the handles of the grocery store cart and rolled a barrel of pickles down the street. He said he got his backside tanned for that one. He also related the time in the late 1920’s when the factory was being built, embers from the boiler caused a fire in the dead of winter. Because of the cold, they gave the firemen some wine to drink to keep them warm, probably some that Great Uncle Albert helped to make.

Raymond Weber was just a child then, but he remembers that they tied the horses to a telephone pole down the street. The garage, which was across the alley, was used for the storage of bushel boxes, wagons and extra equipment. At one time, part of it was rented to a funeral director who used it in his trade.

Walter also told of the time during the depression when upon opening up the factory doors in the morning, there were men lined up to ask if there was any work for that day. So that you don't get the wrong impression of Uncle Walter, my personal recollection is that of him cooking the tomato puree we used to manufacture; two large kettles boiling away and maybe 100 degrees in the shade. It took a real inner fortitude to stay the course on that job, considering we would process 800 to 1,000 bushels of tomatoes a day. In my brother's "Genealogy of The Weber Family," Donald sums it up quite well—"One great guy loved by all".

Albert Otto Weber

Albert Weber was just like his brother Walter. Albert worked his entire life in the business, learning from the dogged determination of his grandmother, Dorothea, and Otto's transition from canning potted meat to vegetables. I have been told that Otto did not like the sauerkraut business and with his advancing years was more interested in tomatoes. There was a scale in the street in front of the factory and he would tend that exclusively in the kraut season. Albert did the buying for the business, and during the growing season would walk to Produce Row every morning and contract for surplus tomatoes and cabbage in season.

There was no doubt of his shrewdness. There were two incidents that were noteworthy. One summer he noticed there was going to be a bumper crop of cucumbers and he cut a deal with a pickling company to provide them with produce at 75 cents a bushel. He had purchased them for 10 cents and delivered them to the Berger or Fleischman Pickle Company, which one we are not entirely sure. I do not know if it was from the profits of this venture or the one to follow that Albert bought a Model A Ford, cash on the barrelhead.

1928 Ford Model A

Another incident came about when the tomato crop failed in Indiana. After receiving a loan of $5,000 from a banker named Hess, the company began shipping bushel boxes of tomatoes to Mueller et al (Libby Foods). Albert bought all he could on the open market and in past years had built up a reputation for honest dealing. He persuaded the farmers to bring their tomatoes directly to the railroad cars. Walter was responsible for unloading and placing the boxes in the cars and bracing them for the trip. When the smoke cleared, Albert and Walter had made a profit of $23,000, a small fortune in those days. Albert was very cautious in all his dealings and had an uncanny sense of which was the right course to take. His work was his life, and his life was his work.

Spanish Lake

Conventional folklore relates the name Spanish Lake, originally called Spanish Pond, to the home built by Spanish Governor Trudeau in Upper Louisiana.

It was not until the late nineteenth century when the federal and county government bought the property, added 14 acres, and transformed the land into the hidden gem we know today. Spanish Lake Park is now a beautiful area to walk the trails, go fishing and playgrounds.

In 1932, Albert bought 42 acres of land in the Spanish Lake Area of North St. Louis County. Even though the country was still in the throes of the great depression, it seemed to be a wise and prudent purchase. The core house was built in 1870 and family and friends alike pitched in to refurbish the grounds and the house. Henry Schafer, a friend and electrician, rewired the house. George Peters, whose wife, Aggie, was a sister to Aunt Amanda, brought scraps of marble, made a cistern cover, a tile floor and fireplace in the rathskeller. A sun porch was added and a summer kitchen enclosed. A contractor built a fireplace and a two room house for a caretaker was built down the road. It is presently owned by his nephew, Raymond Weber, and his wife, Grace, who built a modern bungalow next to the original property.

During World War II, Albert raised chickens in an unused portion of the factory, as meat was rationed and an extra fried chicken was a real treat. Raymond also raised some white rabbits. If it is possible to sum up a person's life in words, my personal observation would be these three statements: "Be content with what you have" , "It's not the high cost of living, but the cost of living high" and "Immer Arbeiten" (always working)".

Ada Emma Weber

Babe

Ada Weber was just about six years old when her mother died. Her baby sister Christina went to Chicago, Illinois and she was sent to live with her Aunt (Tanta) Wanda, who lived in St. Louis. Although she probably saw her brothers and father from time to time, it was not until Otto remarried in June of 1899 that Ada had any real sense of home. What a wonderful feeling that must have been for her to be reunited with her father and brothers again. She was always very close to Elizabeth, her stepmother, and that respect was always manifest in their relationship.

As was the custom in those days, I am sure that as she grew older, she was given more responsibilities both in the home and business, such as overseeing the women workers who peeled the tomatoes and trimmed the cabbage. When she was sixteen years old, she worked at the St. Louis 1904 World's Fair, demonstrating the hand application of paper labels to tin cans, a modern innovation at that time. As I mentioned previously, her brothers Albert and Walter broke a mare they had purchased at the Stock Yards in East St. Louis and "Babe", as she was called, took Ada and her friend Mamie Corbett on Sunday rides, weather permitting, to Forest Park.

Ada never married, but her family consisted of the entire extended family. She always acted as the nucleus for the family, ever busy, ever supportive. She loved animals and in her younger years had a small Rat Terrier that would sit quietly by the piano when she played. For whatever reason, when she played the old ballad "Love's Old Sweet Song", "Tootsie" would howl her head off. Even though Ada never married, she did have a suitor, Leo Danneker, but somehow it didn't work out.

Chapter 7 - A New Beginning Otto and Elizabeth

Elizabeth was grandmother to my brother, Donald and me. Her baptismal certificate reads Maria and she was sometimes called Elise, but I remember her being "Lizzy". Born on June 1, 1872 to Peter Brockmeyer (1841-1889) and Maria (Wittbrodt) Brockmeyer (1844-1921), she had four sisters: Anna (1868-1959), Bertha (1879-1883), Emma (1882-1968), Augusta (1885-1967) and one brother William (Willie) Brockmeyer (1874-1940). Like her sister, Anna (Annie), she had been a bookkeeper for her father in his business, "The Wm F Brockmeyer Cigar Company".

The ground level storefront reads "Pipes Candies Gum" and "Wm F Brockmeyer Cigar Co."

Elizabeth was not only a mother to the children, but someone who could help with the business. It always amazed me that she had the ability to add two columns simultaneously. She, along with Ada, cleaned house, answered the phone, and were, by necessity, involved in the business when and where they could. Elizabeth married Otto on June 5, 1899 and our father, Harry Sr. (1900-1980), was born June 3, 1900. In the early years, she saw that her son had a religious upbringing, which I will touch upon in my father's dialogue.

Ever busy, I remember that the routine in the evening was that after the dinner dishes were put away, Lizzy would sit and very carefully go over the obituary notices, then scan over the sales book doing some preliminary additions and making little notations in the corner. Then out came the crocheting, perhaps darning or some other handiwork. Precisely at 9:00 p.m., it was time for a little sandwich, perhaps a small glass of beer, and get ready for bed. Grandma said that every hour of sleep before 12 midnight was worth two after 12 midnight.

The Blue Bird streamliner passenger train operated by the Wabash Railroad between Chicago, Illinois, and St. Louis, Missouri between 1938 and 1971.

I remember the day that she died, a cold rainy February 23rd in 1950. My mom Alice had come down to help Aunt Ada and I remember that even in Grandma's delirium, she was adding figures and totaling them up. Because her sisters did not have a telephone, I had to drive to Iowa Street in South Saint Louis to let them know of her passing, a very long drive indeed.

Never an outsider, she kept up the line of communication with Christina in Chicago, visiting her many times. I remember once I went with her on the old Wabash Railroad. We got off at the Halsted Street Station, caught the Halsted street car and headed south. This was in 1941 and Grandma was 68 years of age. In her later years she was afflicted with open sores (varicose veins) but she always kept going.

Harry O Weber Sr

Harry Otto Weber, Sr. (1900-1980), Donald's and my father, was born June 3, 1900. One of the earliest recollections Dad had was when he was 5 or 6 years old—in 1905-06, the fire department still had the old steam engines which were to pump water. They were always kept stoked in the fire barn and when an alarm came in, they would throw on some coal and be off to the fire. Dad was playing outside in his bare feet. When the horse-drawn steam engine went by, he started to chase it and a hot coal fell out of the firebox and he stepped on it and burned his foot. He said that he got his bottom burned also when he got home.

Harry O. Weber, Sr. Confirmation

Grandma saw to it that he had a religious upbringing. Although he was baptized in Holy Ghost Evangelical Church on Grand Avenue, she attended Holy Ghost Evangelical Church which was located at Grand and Page. It was quite a trek from 19th and O'Fallon by street car. I have a copy of John Greenleaf Whittier's book Snowbound dedicated as follows: "Harry Weber for three years attendance of the Holy Ghost Sunday School. Cor Grand and Pages Aves" by Dr. P. Ilgen, Pastor, Christmas, 1911. Grandma switched to St. Peter's Evangelical &

Reformed Church, which was a new congregation at St. Louis and Warne Avenues in North Saint Louis. He was confirmed there by Reverend Hackman. His confirmation verse was from Romans 8:28, "All things work together for good to them that love the Lord, and are called according to his purpose".

St. Peter's United Church of Christ

He was a real competitor at any sport and played baseball in the Evangelical Church League as well as on other teams. Mother said that once when I was a baby, she took me to one of the basketball games in the Evangelical League. Dad got into a scrap over a foul, and Mom said she jumped up and almost dropped me. As a young man he worked in the routing office of the Wabash Railroad Company and he prided himself that he knew the initials of all the significant railroads in the country.

About that time, Johnny Tobin, a brother in-law of our Aunt Amanda, was playing with the St. Louis Browns and he felt Dad could make the minor league club. Around 1919-20, baseball players did not have too good a reputation, and Otto said, "If you join those bums, don't ever come into my house again". It was shortly thereafter that Dad went back into the family business. At one time during the late 1930's, one of the teams he was playing on went to Waterloo, Illinois for a game. Dad's team won and the last out of the game was a fly ball to left field. The left fielder kept the ball, but on their way out of town after the game, the sheriff stopped them and would not let them go until they returned the ball.

1920 Baseball (end of first row on right)

In the late 1930's, George Sisler, another big league ball player, came back to St. Louis and opened three softball parks: Northside, at Carter and Grand; Southside, at Chippewa and Kingshighway; and Maplewood, out on Manchester Road. Mr. Sisler managed the Northside Park; our cousin, Ralph Prinz, the Southside; and Dad and a Danny Barnard, who was a soccer player, the Maplewood Park. Dad had a men's team in the Northside League called the "OK's". No one knew they were the "OK Kraut Co. Team" so that they wouldn't be called "Kraut Heads". I remember one evening in 1937 down at the Maplewood Park, one of the teams brought out a "new" aluminum bat during the game. There was quite an argument, and I remember Dad, right in the middle as the park manager, arguing with both sides. In case you are wondering, the bat was banned.

St. Peter's Altar Dedicated to Harry O. Weber, Sr.

His devotion to his church is a record that would be hard to surpass, and his commitment to Christian principles was one we all should strive to emulate. He taught Sunday School, was the Superintendent of the Junior Intermediate Department, President of the Consistory for nine years, a member of the St. Peter's Cemetery Board and Chairman of the Building Committee for every structure built on the Stein and West Florissant properties of St. Peter's E & R Church U.C.C.. The altar was a gift of Clemens G. Krekeler who, one could say, was almost like a brother to Dad. The marble is from the same quarry from which Leonardo da Vinci secured stone for his famous statues.

I believe his most cherished contribution to his church was the 33 years he portrayed James the Greater in the "Lord's Supper Drama". The last performance he participated in was Palm Sunday, 1980. Mother was so proud - she said that he recited his part without so much as a moment's hesitation. Reverend Paul Dausman, in his funeral eulogy, said that when you saw Harry coming, he looked like a big bear, but in reality, he was a teddy bear. Besides these attributes, he could sing. He had a beautiful tenor voice and you could always hear him above the crowd.

Competitive, stern, sincere, honest, and above all, willing to help wherever he could. The following poem, which he kept a copy of, is a testimony to his life:

He never saw the trouble; he only saw the need.

He never thought of sacrifice, his mind was on the deed.

And he had this simple motto, which he followed to the end,
When the other man's in trouble, that's the time to be his friend.

One of the best examples of his adherence to this philosophy was the fall of 1927 when the tornado took off the roof of the nurses' quarters at Deaconess Hospital. Dad took the company truck and one of the employees, Bill Thompson, and they moved furniture and personal belongings to the YWCA.

I think one of the finest tributes to his life was said by my sons, David and Mark, when on separate occasions they said, "You know Dad, Grandpa was right". AMEN

Alice Charlotte (Crusius) Weber

Alice Charlotte (Crusius) Weber Confirmation - 1918

Alice Charlotte (Crusius) Weber (1905-1989), Donald's and my mother, was born to Charles (1880-1946) and Eva (Bates) Crusius (1880-1971), both of whom were deaf. Grandma slept with her hand in the crib next to her bed so she would know when the baby awoke. Alice was named after her maternal grandmother who died when Eva was only two years old. A brother, Herbert, died at the age of 19, and a sister, Katherine, died at the age of 7.

Stix Baer and Fuller Department Store

When Alice completed high school, she secured a position (with the help of her Uncle William Crusius) as a sales clerk with the Stix, Baer & Fuller store. Uncle Will, as we called him, was a member of St. Peters Evangelical and Reformed Church and he persuaded Alice to attend Sunday School there. She was also confirmed by Reverend Hackmann on March 24, 1918. Her confirmation verse was Matthew 10:32-33, "So everyone who acknowledges me before men, I also will acknowledge before my Father who is in heaven; but whoever denies me before men, I also will deny before my Father who is in Heaven".

The event which brought Alice and Harry together is straight out of a Hollywood script. The father of one of the young men on the St. Peter's basketball team had a cabin on the Meramec River, and the team had an outing there in the summer of 1925. While swimming in the river, Alice cut or punctured her foot on an object in the river. No one thought anything of it but Harry insisted on taking Alice to Deaconess Hospital, which was on Newstead Avenue, and have her get a tetanus shot. Alice decided then and there that someone that caring was the man for her. They were married the next year on June 2, 1926. I, Harry Otto Weber, Jr. (1927-2021), was born August 19, 1927, and my brother, Donald Raymond Weber (1932-2010), was born June 18, 1931.

Harry and Alice - 1978

Like Harry, Alice was active in the church. She was President of the Women's Fellowship, taught Sunday School, and had a beautiful voice. Mom and I sang several duets together—it was always nice to hear her sing. One of her favorite songs was "Alice Blue Gown." I remember her knitting cancer bandages, being ready to help anywhere required. During World War II when help was difficult to obtain, she gladly came down to the factory to help, even though she got a nasty cut from the cabbage coring machine. With father so involved, there were times when mother pretty well had to run the ship by herself but she was always cheerful and we had a good life.

Even in her later years, she would try to find ways to help others. When she was at the Bethesda Dilworth Home, she read that you lose 30 percent of your body heat through your head. So she organized all the women who could knit and they made over 50 knitted caps for the needy children of the Epworth Home. She was one of the first conservationists I knew. As early as 1953 she would wash out her tin cans and flatten them with a hammer so they wouldn't take up so much room in the land fill.

Chapter 8 - The Chicago Connection

Christina and William's Wedding - 1920

When Christina's maternal grandmother Maria Sipple Bauch agreed to take her back to Chicago to her home, it was with the understanding that Otto would relinquish his right to reclaim her. When I first knew Christina, she was married to Uncle William (Bill) Kapranos (1889-1979) and they lived at 9142 South Throop Street in Chicago with my cousins, Spiro (1921-2013), Otto (Albert) (1922-1941) and Marie (1928-2011). Aunt Emma (1875-1945) also lived with them and I remember they drank something like three gallons of milk a day. Uncle Peter (1859-1945) also lived with them and I do not remember if he was still alive at that time. Christine was 10 when they moved from 5209 South Dearborn Street to 9142 South Troop Street. She graduated the 8th grade. When I first knew her, she was married to Uncle Bill.

Carson Pirie Scott and Company

Uncle Bill became very ill and bedridden. The doctor said he would probably never work again. Aunt Christina opened Beverly Dry Goods Shoppe at 95th and Vanderpoel and later moved the store to 9441 Ashland Avenue. She then formed a new business called Christine Frocks and moved to 9003 Ashland Avenue. From there she moved the business back home to a double car garage at the rear of the lot on Troop Street, which was converted into a small factory containing four or six commercial sewing machines. A large elm or cottonwood tree in the backyard was like an air conditioner for the garage. She hired women to help make aprons and novelty items which she sold to Carson Pirie Scott and Company and other stores in the area. She also made nuns slips and nighties and hemmed hundreds of towels under contract to Maury Kirchensap. She also made American and Christian flags.

High-Low Food Stores

Uncle Bill recovered and worked as a produce manager for High-Low Food Stores, one of the large grocery chains. He would bring home the sturdy orange crates they had in those days, and Uncle Pete would convert them into step stools for use around the house. Kap has one of these stools in Camas, Washington, and I have the one he gave to Aunt Ada. The way they are constructed, they should last forever. I would estimate they were made in the late 1920's. Aunt Emma's favorite saying was, "All things come to those who wait".

Piraeus, Athens, Greece

Uncle Bill's great grandfather was a sailor. He met a girl from Philistia and settled in Piraeus and opened a flour mill. He was the originator of the Kapranos family. His son Spiro was a ship captain who hauled charcoal. On one trip he met Katrina Pavlakos and settled in Kastri. William was born in Kastri and was raised on Argos. His family was so poor he was sent to live with an uncle who was a farmer and had no children. His maternal grandfather was a Greek Orthodox priest who also lived with the uncle on Argos. He had a 5th grade education which is the equivalent to an 8th grade education in the United States. At the age of 11, in 1900, he followed his older brother George to the United States. He and his cousin, Nick Pavlakos, sailed from Marseilles, France. Before they reached New York, they had to throw their suitcases into the ocean because they were infested with bugs.

In 1902, Uncle George sent Uncle Bill to apprentice at a candy/ice cream shop in Elgin, Illinois. He then went to night school for nine months. In 1917, he tried to enlist in the army but was turned down as he was missing his right index finger which was cut off in an accident while working in Elgin. He moved to Chicago and met Christine at Elite Sweets in 1917. They married and lived with Uncle Pete and Aunt Emma at 9142 South Troop Street until 1957 when they moved to Ontario, California. In 1974, they moved to Beaverton, Oregon. Uncle Bill died on March 28, 1979. He was buried with a Masonic service at Cedar Park Cemetery in Chicago, Illinois. Prior to this, he had a funeral at the Greek Orthodox Church in Portland, Oregon. Aunt Christina died on Jun 27, 1983. Services were held in Portland at the nursing home and at the cemetery with Roger's cousin officiating.

Tower Hill Camp and Retreat Center

I would accompany Grandma Weber (Elizabeth) to visit and I remember on my 14th birthday Aunt Christina gave me a birthday present of a week at the church summer camp, Tower Hill Camp and Retreat Center in Sawyer, Michigan. Little Albert was a camp counselor at the summer camp and I have fond memories of listening to him as he told many of the Paul Bunyan stories. It was in 1941 that I went to the camp and that same year in August, Little Albert (as he was fondly called by Aunt Ada) lost his life while swimming in Lake Michigan. I will break off here but my brother, Donald, has in his genealogy files a complete listing of Spiro's and Marie's families (Robert now has all of the genealogy files).

George Kapranos (1881-1974), was William's brother and at one time owned a hotel, a restaurant and candy store, which was called "Elite Sweets". There was a Lunchette on the first floor with little round marble tables with the old wire backed chairs. The candy was made in the basement in copper kettles used for cooking the candies and large marble slabs where the candy was worked when ready. Christina met Uncle Bill there where she worked packaging candy for sale in the Tea Room.

George, ever the entrepreneur, moved to Ontario California and in 1957, convinced Aunt Christina and Uncle Bill to follow him on his rabbit raising venture. There they lived out their days. He died at age 96 when he walked away from the nursing home and fell in a ditch.

Uncle Bill was a Master Mason, a member of Hellenic (Greek) Lodge and was buried with a Masonic Service at Cedar Park Cemetery in Chicago, Illinois, which was to be Christina's resting place as well.

Ford Model T

One final story related to me by my cousin, William (Kap) Kapranos, Jr., was the time Uncle George took him and his brother, Albert, to a sporting event when they were small. Uncle George had a Model T Ford, and at that time it was the most numerous cars made. When they left the parking lot, somehow George got into the wrong car and off they drove. Kap said he does not recall how everything was resolved, but the tale was retold many times.

Spiro William and Rose (Capodice) Kapranos

Their first child was Spiro William (1921-2013), born May 21, 1921. He had a B.S. in Chemical Engineering from Illinois Institute of Technology. Kap, as we usually call him, led a very interesting life. He married Rose Capodice (b. 1923) on June 26, 1943, whom he met while at ITT.

They came through St. Louis via train on their honeymoon on the way to his new job in Houston, Texas with Shell Oil in the research division. My dad, Harry O. Weber, Sr., helped Kap and Rose get a roomette on the train with the aid of Dan Barnard, who worked for the railroad in passenger service. This was during the middle of World War II and accommodations were almost impossible to get.

From Texas, they moved back to Chicago where he worked for the Karo Syrup Company and also ventured into the root beer business, which I remember him fondly referring to as "The Burp Works". He worked as a consultant for Booz Allen Hamilton and as a result became a Vice President of Mead Johnson.

From there he moved to California where he worked for Norton Simon to integrate the Fuller Paint Division. I also remember when Rose and Kap lived in San Paulo, Brazil when the city Brasilia was literally carved out of the Brazilian jungle. Later on he worked for Boeing Aircraft Company. He and Rose now live in Camas, Washington.

Their first child is Karen Ann (b. 1945) born August 10, 1945 in Houston, Texas. She graduated from Lone Mountain College in San Francisco, California. She married Charles Lamoree (1945-2014) in 1968 and supported him through law school. They divorced in 1974. Karen then went to nursing school and later married Lewis Bowen (b. 1938) on December 28, 1985. They have one child, Elijah Floyd Bowen (b. 1987).

Their second child is Richard William Kapranos (1947-1998) born on January 14, 1947 in Oak Park, Illinois. He graduated from Notre Dame and then attended Lewis and Clark Law School in Portland, Oregon and practiced law in Portland for 25 years. He married Linda Ann Irvine (b. 1950) on Apr 20 1974. She was an elementary school teacher and later a principal. Rick died of a massive heart attack on December 31, 1998. They have three children: Nicolas William (b. 1974), Anna Christina (b. 1977) and Elizabeth Kathryn (Betsy) (b.1980).

Their last child is Beth Marie (b. 1957) was born on September 2, 1957 in Evansville, Indiana. She graduated from San Francisco State University with a degree in Interior Design. She then received her teaching credentials in elementary education and is currently the facilitator for the school's special reading program in Lakeport, California. She married Kurt Harold Ackermann (b. 1961) on November 17, 1990.

His work as a management consultant and executive took him all over the world. He held many patents and became an entrepreneur.

All I can say is that his tragic death by drowning while a counselor at Tower Hill Camp in Lake Michigan was a loss not only to those who loved him but to the world as a human being. Chapter 9 - The Next Generation

Raymond Albert Weber

Raymond Albert Weber (1912-2007) was born January 4, 1912 at Christian Hospital in St. Louis, Missouri. Most of his early years were lived in the flats near the kraut factory on O'Fallon Street, and he witnessed the whole series of events in which the company evolved. At the age of 17, he began to work in the factory, and under the guidance of his Uncle Albert, learned the maintenance of the can closing machines. He also learned by his own efforts how to maintain, service and repair everything in the plant.

One of the major innovations came during the 1940's. Instead of packing the cabbage into barrels for fermentation, which was a very time consuming process, large tanks were used for the fermentation process. Raymond supervised the erection of these tanks and the necessary conveyors required to transport the cabbage to the tanks. With the exception of hi-tech equipment, if it was needed, he built it, and if it was broken, he fixed it.

On January 11, 1936, he married Grace Frances Schuetz (1917-2006) at Salem E & R Church at Shreve and Margareta Avenues in St. Louis, Missouri. As of this writing, June 23, 1997, Raymond continued to remain active in maintaining the farm purchased by Uncle Albert in 1932. He and Grace have built a modern ranch style home on the property and the original home and barn are kept in excellent condition at all times. The 1940 Ford Ferguson tractor still runs, although a newer tractor is used to mow the 40 plus acres and whatever other chores are required.

They have one daughter, June Marcella (b. 1938), married in 1959 to Robert Lang (1932-2018), two granddaughters, Sandra Marie (b. 1961) married in 1988 to Brett Thomas Aiello (b. 1962), and Sharon Ann Lang (b. 1961) married in 1999 to Herbert M Ruterschmidt (b. 1959) of Chicago. They have five great grandchildren, Zachary George (b. 1993), Zoe Marie (b. 1997) and Zia Rae (b. 1998) Aiello; and Christina Grace (b. 2001) and Eva Maria (b. 2003) Ruterschmidt.

Donald Raymond Weber

My brother, Donald Raymond Weber (1932-2010), was born June 18, 1931, died Apr 23, 2010. My first recollection of him was at the age of 5 when he contracted pneumonia and almost died. Our doctor, Carl H. Lindeman, M.D., came to the house to see Don. I also remember watching Mother bathe Don in a white oval porcelain tub. As we were 4 years apart in age and had two grandmothers to babysit, we had enough time apart that we didn't get on each other's case too much.

Donald married Evelyn Doris Schmidt (b. 1935) on November 27, 1953 at Friedens Church, 19th and Newhouse, St. Louis, Missouri. Donald went to work in the family business at the Kraut Company while Evelyn raised the children.

Brian is both a medical doctor and a lawyer, and Kevin David (b. 1985), born April 19, 1985, married on October 17, 2009 to Emily Ruth Ann Curtis (b. 1984) from Sycamore, Illinois. Kevin received his Doctor of Pharmacy from Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa where her met Emily. They currently reside in Barrington, Illinois.

Harry Otto Weber Jr.

Harry Otto Weber, Jr. (1927-2021) I was born August 19, 1927 at 3:00 p.m.. Since the factory always stopped at 3:00 p.m. for a break, they always said that I got there just in time for lunch. It was a brutally hot summer and there was no such thing as air conditioning, so you can only imagine the time mother had delivering me. Both of my maternal grandparents were deaf, and Father said that when they brought me to Mother's room for the first time, she swatted me on the rear and I started singing. As my dear friend, Lou Schelker says, "I haven't stopped yet".

The tornado in the fall of 1927 heralded my arrival into the world. That Christmas, Mother was Mary in the Christmas Pageant and I was Baby Jesus. Mother said I slept through the whole thing. My granddaughter, Katherine Weber, was Baby Jesus in the DeWitt Community Church Pageant 65 years later.

I remember bathing in the white porcelain tub and Ivory Soap. Yes, I was an Ivory baby. There was a swing hung in the doorway downstairs in the kitchen at 1941 O'Fallon Street, and I remember swinging in it and singing all the nursery rhymes Mother taught me.

When I was in the Beginner Primary Department at St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed Church on St. Louis and Warne Avenues in North St. Louis, I remember the Christmas Pageant when Jack Wichman, myself and another boy were The Three Wise Men and were supposed to sing as we went down the Sunday School aisle. Jack didn't want to sing and being the ham that I was, I was arguing with him all the way down the aisle. I guess I gave Mrs. Kleykamp fits.

Jack's parents were good friends of my parents, and in 1981 when I returned to St. Louis after an absence of 16 years, I attended a Congregational Meeting at St. Peters with my mother. We were sitting with Mrs. Wichman when she slumped over the table. I caught her but she was a dead weight. Several of our members are nurses and they started CPR immediately, but to no avail—she had had a massive coronary.

I spent a lot of time at 1941 O'Fallon Street after my brother, Donald, was born and Grandma Weber, Aunt Ada and Uncle Albert as my baby sitters. When I was perhaps nine or ten, I remember the piles of lumber that would be in the factory yard in the fall of the year. All of the cabbage in the fall and early winter came from Wisconsin in the old wooden refrigerator cars—about 25 to 28 thousand pounds to a car. They would put a slat structure shaped like a "A" down the center of the car for ventilation. On weekends or if school was off, I would pull the nails out of the boards and stack them by size. By the end of the season I would have a good sized pile of lumber because they unloaded about 50 carloads a year. A side note here: the rail cars were loaded by Native Americans and they had a superstition that caused them to put one head of red cabbage in every car. Grandma and Aunt Ada would always ask if we had found the red head so they could make a nice pot of sweet/sour red cabbage for us.

Chapter 10 - The War Years

As told on August 24, 1997

December 7, 1941 saw an upheaval in the world with World War II spreading all over the world. That Sunday, the family went to church as usual, and our parents agreed to take the altar flowers to someone at Deaconess Hospital on Oakland Avenue. Since children were not allowed in hospitals as they are now, Donald and I remained in the car with the radio turned on (you didn't need the ignition turned on then) and heard the very first announcement of the bombing of Pearl Harbor. Mom and Dad thought we were joking when we told them but shortly after the President began his speech.

I graduated from John Scullin Grammar School in January of 1942 and my high school years went by all too swiftly. Because of the shortage of manpower during the war, I spent after school hours working, and summers as well. In my senior year, 1946 things had eased up and Dad said that I could try out for the swimming team at Beaumont High School. We won the Missouri State Championship that year.

In 1943, St. Peters Church celebrated its 100th Anniversary. Since most of the young men had been drafted, and the Choir Director Hugo Hagen had only one regular bass, Mr. John Klick. I was asked to sing in the Senior Choir. It was also at this time I started taking singing lessons from Mrs. Irene Chambers. I will discuss the things I did with my singing later in the dialogue.

In the summer of 1945, I went to the Marine Corps Office, and signed up. However, when the A-bombs were dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in August of that year, all enlistments were voided and I was dropped back into the draft pool. I was inducted into the Army in February 1946 and took basic training at Fort McClelland, Alabama. I was then an Infantryman MOS 412 (Engine Specialist Machinist Automotive). After a short furlough, I reported to Fort Lawton, Seattle, Washington for overseas shipment. While there, I met a Master Sergeant who was reenlisting as a cook. When it was determined that there would not be a ship to accommodate the troops, we were loaded on a troop train for Camp Stoneman, California. Since I could type, he set me up to be in his unit, and I typed the menus and KP rosters. I had it pretty nice as I was in the NCO quarters in the mess car. I enjoyed the trip, but got a bad case of Nasopharyngitis on the way down and went right to the infirmary at Camp Stoneman. When I got out 3 days later, my group was gone and I was put in a casual company doing what else - Typing. I was now MOS 355 - File Clerk. I worked there for about two months processing the returning soldiers. There was not much to do, so I started setting pins in the Camp Bowling Alley.

I saved up enough money so that when they decided to close Stoneman, I was given another furlough. I headed for home - San Francisco to Los Angeles and over the mountains in a DC3. That was a trip I will never forget. When we were over the mountains, we hit an air pocket, and when we landed in Flagstaff, one of the pilots said we dropped about 3,000 feet. Yes, in those days the pilots came into the coffee shop with the passengers. The flight then went to Tucumcari, Amarillo, Dallas, Tulsa, Kansas City and finally St. Louis.

SS American Victory

After this furlough, it was back to Fort Lawton and this time they had a ship waiting for me, the SS American Victory. I had a real experience going over the Pacific, 30 to 40 foot waves in a storm that lasted three days. I had a firsthand experience of what they mean by heavy seas. We went first to Yokohama and then around the southern tip of Japan to the China Sea. After our experience in the Pacific, the morning we woke up in the China Sea was another revelation. We could hear the ship's engines running, but it seemed as if we were standing still. When we got topside, there was this mirror like expanse of water colored a yellowish tint from the Yangtze River. You had the sensation you were riding on a modern superhighway.

The next afternoon, we dropped anchor off Inchon, Korea, and we were literally hustled off that boat, down the landing nets into LST's. It wasn't until after we had been fed and came out of the mess hall that we knew the reason for the big push. Where there had been an ocean before was a vast expanse of mud flats. There are some of the highest tides in the world there. When General MacArthur landed his troops there during the Korean War, I thought what a split second timing that must have been. I was almost settled in for the night, when the Duty Officer came in and read off about six names, including mine, and we were loaded on a truck and off into the night. Our first stop was Yeongdeungpo Air Field, and it was there I learned I was going to Seoul, where I was assigned to the 404th Medium Maintenance Battalion, 61st Ordnance Group in Seoul, Korea, as their new Company Clerk, MOS 405 - Clerk-Typist. I always used to laugh at the show MASH, and could empathize with the character "Radar".

Chapter 11 - California Here We Come

A NARRATIVE LOG KEPT BY ALICE C. WEBER

In the summer of 1936, Mom, Dad, Grandma Weber, my brother and I took a trip out to California and the West. What follows is a transcript of a diary kept by Mom on that trip.

Saint Louis, Missouri

Saturday, May 30, 1936

Arrived at Dixieland Cabins near Sapulpa, Oklahoma about 9:25 PM. Got a cabin with two double beds and a cot for Donald, who was already sleeping and never awoke. Got to sleep about 10:20 and was awakened at 12:15 by a man who wanted to use our auto pump. I grabbed my purse, looking for a place to hide it. We were afraid it was a holdup. It turned out to be a man, his wife and 4 children, (3 of whom were yelling like ----) who were heading 125 miles to their home. After this excitement, we went back to sleep and awoke at 7 minutes to 5 and got ready to leave at 6:15 AM. We lost a little over two hours at Lebanon because the radio was broke and could not be shut off. While waiting there we saw the Lebanon Creamery in action. After the butter is churned and salted, it is tested in the laboratory, then weighed on clean wet butter paper, put in lined butter tubs, pressed down with a square wooden block on a handle, smoothed off with a wood stick, covered and sealed. Each tub contains 63 pounds of butter. Saw oil drills (wells) in and out of Tulsa. We made 475 miles.

Sunday, May 31

Arrived in Amarillo, Texas at 5:00 PM. Rented a dandy cottage with 2 bedrooms, kitchen-breakfast nook, bath and closed adjoining garage. We were very well pleased and will take a bath and go into town for our evening meal. After eating we came back, pressed clothes and went to bed at 9:30.

Monday, June 1

Up at 6 AM and ready to leave at 7 to get breakfast—mileage 23,706. Had breakfast and left Amarillo at 7:30. Saw many oil wells in Oklahoma and were impressed by the red brick color of the soil. The drive from Hereford was marked by severe wind and dust storms—for 3 miles you could only see about 100 feet in front of you. Living conditions must be very unpleasant. Am writing this while riding on a bumpy, dusty detour road. At 10:30 PM we entered New Mexico—still very windy and the air is full of sandy particles. After passing the town of Clovis, New Mexico, we had to turn our clock back one hour. Going into Roswell, New Mexico we passed the New Mexico Military Institution. It was a very new and good looking building. While stopping for gas and oil at a Conoco Station we went to a building next to it and saw a radio press machine (molding) in action. Since it was the first one, I had seen, I was very much impressed. We will get a bite to eat in Roswell as it is now 1:10 and we are hungry. Ate lunch at Mosley Sandwich Shop in Roswell, which was very good. Left Roswell at 2:00 PM on our way to Carlsbad. Nearing Greenfield, New Mexico, we thought we saw a dirigible which turned out to be a large white cloud. Got in Carlsbad at 4:01 and stopped at Henry F. Bock, plumber, for information (afraid of Sid Barnards.) Next door is a Coca Cola Bottling Plant, which interested the children very much. Spent the night at Camp D. Ate dinner early and went to the cavern to see the bats come out. It is quite a thrilling drive through small mountains to the cave. We then came back and spent 2 to 2 ½ hours at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bock, who were very lovely people. Before the evening was over, we found we had mutual friends in Saint Louis.

Tuesday, June 2

Awoke at 5 o'clock, forgot to set the clock back, wanted to get up at 6. Ate breakfast at Mrs. Burns' coffee shop and went back to the cabin to pack the grips on the car. Then we went to the 5 & 10 to get card folders of the Caverns. Then we will go to the Carlsbad Caverns. 46 miles from El Paso we were on a high point and could see the road down in the valley, which was 5,389 feet deep. Spent the night in Camp Grande El Paso. Arrived at 8:00 PM.

Wednesday, June 3

Leaving El Paso at 5 o'clock, we stopped at Las Cruces for breakfast. At noon we ate lunch in Safford, Arizona. It is a nice clean town and we enjoyed our food. At Solomonsville, Arizona, our car was stopped and two government men inspected our car in search of citrus fruit with scales on it. He then placed a sticker on our car and let us go. On entering Arizona, we had to present ownership papers on our car and state our destination. We are now riding through a very mountainous section full of curves and winding roads on our way to Phoenix. Soon we will pass the Coolidge Dam. I did my first bit of driving in 2 ½ years. It was only 16 miles while Harry rested but it was a tricky, mountainous road. Harry was sleeping or else I am sure he would have taken the wheel away from me. We just saw the Coolidge Dam—it certainly was a great undertaking to put it there. It was extremely windy on top. Now on to Phoenix. Between Globe and Miami, Arizona we saw an immense copper smelting plant which threw off large, heavy white clouds. The $50,000,000.00 (copper deposit city). The name of the plant was "Inspiration Copper Company." 4:20 PM, we just passed the highest mountain or elevation called the top of the world, 5,532 feet. It was a long way down and talk about chills!! Now the descent down to Phoenix, elevation of 1,108 feet. In the lower section of Arizona we saw Mexicans making mud bricks and stacking them in the sun to dry. They naturally have the appearance of mud. Many homes were built of these bricks. Mesa, Arizona, where we saw our first palm trees growing around homes—also huge bushes bearing white and red flowers. We spent the night at La Fonda in Phoenix, Arizona. We had a lovely cottage and slept very well.

Thursday, June 4

Left Phoenix at 5:30 AM with a mileage of 24,735 and were told it was 400 miles to Los Angeles. Will get breakfast later on. TROUBLE. Before we arrived at Wickenburg, coming around a mountain, we hit a large rock and knocked a hole in the crankcase. By riding in the rest of the way, we burnt out the main bearing. Arriving at the Texaco Station in Wickenburg, we ate breakfast while the mechanic discovered what was wrong. He told us that we would have to stay 4 or 5 days or else be towed back 54 miles to Phoenix for $35.00. On our way (back) to Phoenix! We rented our cabin at La Fonda and planned to cook until we are ready to leave. This afternoon we rode on the street car for five cents each. After Harry had consulted with the mechanic, who said the shop had wired to Los Angeles for the main bearing, we went to the Fox Show and saw two good pictures—one of them with Jane Withers in Little Miss Nobody. The seats were so soft you sank down in them and so high you could rest your head on the back. We then came back, ate, played rummy and went to bed.

Friday, June 5

After breakfast Harry went to the repair shop and was told to come to the shop between 3 and 4 o'clock for the car. We washed some clothes, played cards with Harry, Jr., then ironed, cooked dinner and washed dishes. While Harry went for the car, we tried to take a nap. At 4, I went to the store for meat, etc., and at 5, Harry came back with the car. We will ride around town to see if everything is all right. We will come back, fix our meal and then go to bed so we can get up early.

Saturday, June 6

Left the camp at 4:20 AM, ate breakfast at Wickenburg and stopped for gas at Hope, Arizona. Saw a cage of love birds, the deep blue and green, and one rare love bird, a pale blue shade. We also saw a bird who spread his tail into fan shape and flew away. It had the coloring of a turkey with white tipped wings. It was called a "White Wing." Have taken our own sandwiches to save time. At 9:10 we reached (8:10 California time) Blythe, California and had to stop for inspection and show our car ownership papers. We also had to turn our clocks back 1 hour. Crossing the desert was no different to us than the desolate parts we passed through in New Mexico. The only difference was a strong tail wind and intense heat. Between Banning and Riverside, California we bought 3 pounds of red cherries for 39 cents. Gee they were good. 77 more miles to Alhambra, time 12:45. Our first orange trees outside of Redbank. The children were very excited and wanted to stop and pick some. The flowers around here are so beautiful—cannas, large roses and many colored gladiolas. Before we saw the orange trees, however, we saw many apricot and cherry trees.

We arrived at Mrs. Drexel's house about 10 to 3 California time and 5:30 St. Louis, Missouri time. She was in the yard and was very glad to see us. We went to a Miss Service (a Canadian), who informed us we could not have the room as she was going away Sunday. We were very glad because we wanted to go to a Motor Court for privacy. We found one, but could not rent it until Sunday. It was a nice new one with 1 bedroom, large bath, kitchen and living room with studio couch. We went to Mrs. Drexel's house, ate supper and slept there—Harry, Sr. on a couch, Grandma (Weber) and Donald in a single bed and Harry, Jr. and I on a mattress on the floor.

Sunday, June 7

This morning after breakfast we took our belongings and rented the house for 1 week. We may not stay that long but had to rent it that way. After dinner, (lunch) we drove about 35 or 50 miles around town as Harry was looking for a soft ball park. Then we landed at Santa Monica Beach. We saw lots of sights. It was our first view of an ocean and it looked very wild. There were many different kinds of bathers and shops, etc. We went on the pier and saw our first Kelp, a tubular light brown mass with round bulbs and flat leaves which was hard and could not be mashed by stamping on it. There were many fishermen around the pier and when the fishing boats came in, some of the men brought in large fish. After eating at the beach we went home. It was a very long drive back (3hrs). Then to bed.

Monday, June 8

After breakfast we drove to Mrs. Drexel's home. Harry had to go downtown on business and me to wash. We left our wash on the line to go downtown. It was a 45 minute ride on the electric cars. The shop windows are quite different from ours; they have so much more beauty and charm. A store called Bullocks seemed very exclusive and gave one a relaxed feeling while shopping. We ate at a busy cafeteria which was much nicer, and had better food than The Forum (in St. Louis). We walked through the park downtown. Such characters as we saw. A Japanese preaching about God to a dissipated poor lot. A Communist preaching his belief and others bored or taking an active part. Then to the big market, 1 block by 2, full of Japanese fruit stands, fish, meats, and cheeses, etc. It was very noisy, confusing and immensely colorful. Home on weary feet and the electric cars. When we got to Mrs. Drexel's house, I had to take the boys swimming at a local pool. Dinner and bed early because we are going to Catalina Island tomorrow.

Tuesday, June 9

We got up early, ate breakfast at our cottage, went to Mrs. Drexel's house got her and drove almost 2 hours to Wilmington Beach Dock to get on "The Catalina." Going over all of us were sea sick except Mrs. Drexel. As soon as we reached calm water, we were OK. Entering Avalon Bay we saw many flying fish. We had a nice dinner (lunch) at John's Place. Our next trip was on the glass bottom boat. It was quite a novelty to see the bottom of the ocean. We saw schools of sardines being chased by larger fish: Blue Perch, Convict, Button and many others. Different growths of green and colored plants. Then the man who explains things to us dove under the boat and performed, opening his eyes and mouth. We then went on the bus to see the Bird Park. It was full of many birds, mostly from South America. It was in a beautiful setting and most different from any bird parks we had seen. The bus passed the ball park in which the Cubs (Chicago) do their spring training. We sat in the square (the setting was Spanish) and listened to a Spanish string ensemble play the most intriguing Spanish Music. Back on the boat and homeward bound. No one was sea sick this time and the ride back was most enjoyable. We stopped at a café and ate our dinner.

Home and Bed. I forgot to mention the beach (at Catalina Island) which was full of young and old having a glorious time. They all line up to meet the boat and make wise cracks at the people. A girl called Donald "Dinkey." A boy called Harry, Jr. "Jackie Cooper, and one man asked me, "Say lady what have you got under your arm, Tiddley-Winks?" Also a dance pavilion, the largest in the world.

Wednesday, June 10

This morning Mr. Drexler went with us to Forest Lawn Park, a beautiful cemetery. We bought literature on it so I won't write about what we saw. After we came back Harry and I dressed and went to Hollywood. We were going to the Brown Derby. We went to the one on Wilshire in Los Angeles. It was a beautiful place with one part shaped like a big brown hat. We had a lovely luncheon but were told the movie stars ate at the Derby on Vine Street. After lunch we went to the Hollywood Professional Building to see George Clark. He was a lawyer interested in Softball. He knew many actors and actresses personally as he was the lawyer for some of them. He also acts for Bing Crosby and plays golf with him. On leaving his office Harry got a shave. I looked around the 5 & 10. We ate at the Derby on Vine; saw one big movie writer and Ed Brendel, the Swedish comic. Then to the Pantages show to see George Breen in "Lets Sing Again." and E. Everett Horton in "Nobody's Fool," home and to bed.

Thursday, June 11

Got to Mrs. Drexel's for breakfast at 6:30; said goodbye, went back to pack and are leaving at 9:40. The ocean is very rough today judging by the rough waves. We are now in San Luis Obispo and it has certainly been a lovely drive; stopped here and had ice cream sodas and milk shakes. Three miles out of Paso Robles we thought we had a flat. It turned out to be a large blister on the tire which would eventually turn into a blowout. We were fortunate to pass a Richfield Station which had the size tire we needed. It was only a side sta.(?) When we were 3,000 miles from home, we were 250 miles from San Francisco. Arrived at King City, California 5 min to eight. Stayed at Lindy Court. Ate light dinner and went to bed at 9:30.

Friday, June 12

Left King City at 7:35. Hope to make Frisco by noon. At Salinas we left 101 to go on #1 to Santa Cruz and the redwood trees. Drove through the State Park of redwood trees. A very narrow road full of many curves. Had to drive about 15 to 20 miles, very beautiful drive.

Turned into a steep winding road to get to Palo Alto to see the Noller family. Found them by phoning from the Chemistry Building in Stanford University. The oldest boy had scarlet fever and they had a 5 weeks old baby girl. Their home was very lovely and the grounds were full of flowers and the boys had a grand play set with concrete sand pit and wading pools. They were very glad to see us and were sorry they could not invite us in. Their boy, Eric, was a large well developed boy. After we left them, we drove about 32 more miles to Frisco. Located without any trouble Tom Neuman. Rented a house at the Mission Auto Court. Ate dinner out and made an appointment to meet Tom at 12:00 at The Willows, his place of business. Home to bed.

Saturday, June 13

After breakfast we washed clothes—dressed and left the house about 10 o'clock and rode down Mission Street to the steamship and ferry offices, then around and back to meet Tom at 12:00 at The Willows. He directed us around town and we saw China Town, Twin Peaks and Golden Gate Park, the Beach with the amusement section for the children. Harry, Jr. and Tom went on a boat scenic ride which ends by splashing in some water. The men and boys went in the house of fun and had a grand time. After leaving Tom, we went to the house, ate and went back downtown to shop. Back and bed about 10:20.

Sunday, June 14

We stayed at home this morning ironing, packing and taking it easy. After dinner (lunch) it rained very hard but we were ready so we left to see Golden Gate Park. We saw their Museum of Natural History-Aquarium and stuffed birds. They also had some seals and otters in concrete pools. We also listened to the first part of (a) Flag Day Program in the park. We went back home shopping on the way for food. After eating we left and called on Tom to say goodbye and then went to 782 37th Street to see Kate. She was very glad to see us and Mr. and Mrs. Peters were very friendly and nice. Mrs. Peters gave the boys each a gift she had brought back from Santa Cruz. We left about 9:15 so we could get to bed fairly early.

Monday, June 15

Awoke at 5 o'clock. Left at 6:21 got the 7 o'clock Ferry and landed at Oakland about 7:25. Harry will stop here to see a man on business. Then we will go to Yosemite. After leaving Mariposa going to Yosemite a little deer ran across the road in front of our car. We also saw many chipmunks. Entered the valley at 2:15; paid \$2.00 for right to enter. Tourists were feeding 2 small deer and beyond that the Bridal Falls - Cathedral Spires - Old Village - Mirror Lake - Happy Isle - Fish Hatcheries - Yosemite Falls and out Oak Flat Road. We went over the road at 10 to 20 miles per hour. (here mother has drawn a very irregular curving arching line to describe the road.) Stopped to pick up 2 large fir cones much to Jr's. delight. We passed snow under the trees. Saw squirrels, chipmunks and lizards. We went through a tunnel in a redwood tree. At Carl Inn we had to pay 28 cents per gallon for gas. Fortunately we could only take $\frac{2}{12}$ gallons. Went through some dangerous mountain roads. One called Priest's drive was a down grade of 9 miles. At one time we were 6,300 feet above sea level. We reached Sonora about 8:15 only to learn that 150 people from Warner Bros. came in that day. Hotels, cabins and homes were all filled. Harry had his teeth x-rayed at Sonora and the dentist told him to get them pulled. We drove 36 miles to Oakdale, arriving at 15 min to eleven. Went to bed right away, but Harry put in a bad night.

Tuesday, June 16

Arose about 7:30, dressed and went into town. Harry got in touch with a dentist, Dr. Martin, who used Novocain and pulled two teeth. We ate breakfast in town and bought some gifts in a ducky store full of gorgeous things, the owner and his mother kept shop, and the owner was an artist to say the least. Leaving Oakdale at 11AM, we arrived in Stockton at 1PM and ate a good dinner (lunch). On the road to Reno we went to an elevation of 7,130 feet at Donner Summit with snow on each side of us. Then a down grade of $\frac{8}{12}$ miles, passing a lovely lake called Donner Lake. Crossed into Nevada 5:50. Stopped and got a drink of mountain water. It tasted grand it was so cold. Arrived at Reno at 6:30. Ate light lunch and retired.

Wednesday, June 17

Arose at 4 o'clock left at 4:40. Ate breakfast in Lovelock, lunch in Elco and at 3:05/4:05 passed the state line. A mile or so out of Wendover, Utah we saw the Great Salt Lake Desert. On both sides as far as we could see were big basins of salt water in different stages of evaporation. About 30 or 32 miles out of Salt Lake City we stopped to tow a CCC licensed car with a soldier driving and 2 elderly men. The car was completely dry of water. They were very appreciative. Just talked to the men and found out that one of them was General Sweeney located at Ft. Douglas. While talking, a road patrolman and 2 men came to the General's assistance, and another car met them later. They must have called out the army. (Mother has a notation on this page saying

"We towed them 13 miles.) Got a nice cabin, bathed, ate lunch at 9PM and went to a Soft Ball Park. Bed at 11:15.

Thursday, June 18

DONALD'S 5TH BIRTHDAY

Awoke 7:30, dressed, ate breakfast and saw the Mormon Temple. Packed and left 12:15, ate lunch at Coalville. Nothing unusual in the line of scenery. Only large hills. Arrived at Rock Springs 6PM. Ate a good dinner, retired at 9:00.

Friday, June 19

Left Rock Springs at 5 o'clock. 360 miles to Denver. Entered Colorado 25 min. to 1 o'clock. Entered Denver 3:05; arrived at Freida's at 3:30. Were very welcome and stayed at Mrs. Wohlenweber's upstairs, and Grandma stayed at Freida's. Ate supper, gossiped. Clara and John came over and we talked some more. Went to bed at 11:30.

Saturday, June 20

I went downtown with Harry and Ida Louise. The boys stayed with Freida and Grandma and made mud pies. They ate outdoors and had a grand time. I had my hair set. Shopped for a hat and dress. We had 6:30 dinner at Louis and Bertha's house. The boys played outdoors and had a grand time. Donald tipped over the swing and came in crying but he was only bruised. Later he came in saying a brick hit him. (He ran into the house.) Back home and bed.

Sunday, June 21

The boys went to Sunday School with Frieda. When they came back, we went to the City Park and had a picnic lunch and then supper with Louis and family, Paul and family, Frieda and family, Clara and John. We played ball and walked around. The boys played on the playground and rode the ponies. When it was dark and we wanted to go home it started to rain a little. We got to bed about 11:30.

Monday, June 22

Up at 5 to make a trip in the mountains. Eldo took part of the day off and drove us up to Nevadaville, the Ghost Town. At one time the population was 10,000. Now 2 families live there. The homes, buildings, city hall and fire department, churches, etc., were completely deserted and rapidly falling down. Eldo can (two words missing) the town and buildings.

Here ends the log book. The last several pages are missing, but the next day we left Denver, and in two days arrived back in St. Louis.
